Jordan Rasmussen of the Colby Heat 12 and Under, made it back to second base without getting tagged out during his team's matchup against Hoxie.

Senior Amateur deadline near

Qualifying tournaments for the United States Golf Association Senior Amateur will be held at Prairie Dunes Country Club in Hutchinson on Aug. 17 and at Falcon Ridge Golf Club in Kansas City on Aug. 18, said Larry Barrett, Colby, a member of the Senior Amateur Committee.

These are two of the approximately 50 qualifying sites nationally conducting 18-hole tournaments to select the 156 players who will participate in the Championship, he said. The Championship will be held at The Farm Golf Club in Rocky Face, Ga., from Sept. 17-22. The championship format at The Farm will be two 18-hole rounds of stroke play, with the low 64 advancing to single-elimination match play.

The tournament has been conducted each year since 1955. It is for amateurs age 55 or older by Sept. 17, 2005 with a handicap index not to exceed 7.4. (The Championship was held at Prairie Dunes Country Club in 1995, when it was won by James Stahl, Jr.)

The Senior Amateur is one of 13 national championships conducted annually by the USGA, 10 of which are strictly for amateurs.

Entries must be received by the United States Golf Association by July 27. The cost is $100 to enter. Entries can be made on-line at <outbind://43/www.usga.org,or>www.usga.org,or entry blanks can be obtained by calling the USGA at (908)234-2300.

For further information, interested players may also contact Barrett, at (785) 462-6215 or lbarrett@kspeach.com.

Armstrong watches teammate grab win

SAINT-LARY-SOULAN, France (AP) — As Lance Armstrong prepared for what may be the hardest stage of the Tour de France, the widow of a friend and teammate killed in a crash a decade ago told him to go for the win.

That was the only thing that didn't work out for Armstrong Sunday, which he called "a perfect day."

Armstrong settled for watching his most loyal teammate, genial New Yorker George Hincapie, pedal to victory high in the Pyrenees — his first-ever individual stage victory in the Tour and the first by one of Armstrong's support riders.

And, taking care of business, Armstrong solidified his overall race lead in the brutal 15th stage — staying on track to retire with a seventh consecutive Tour victory next Sunday.

At the finish, the two riders — friends since they were teenagers — hugged and Armstrong gave a thumbs-up.

"This is a dream for me," the 32-year-old Hincapie said. "I'm really in a state of shock."

The 33-year-old Armstrong called Hincapie "my biggest guy, my biggest friend on the team."

"We've been riding together since we were 17," said Armstrong, who finished seventh. "The guy is one of the best riders in cycling. Period. I'm so proud of him."

Usually, Armstrong's teammates devote themselves entirely to making sure that he wins, and have few chances for Tour glory of their own. Their only wins have been collective ones — in team time trials that Armstrong's squad won for the third consecutive time this year.

But in the sun-baked 127.7-mile trek up six mountain climbs, Hincapie joined a group of riders that broke away from the main pack, which included Armstrong.

Hincapie said he went with that group thinking that Armstrong would catch up to him later in the stage.

But the breakaway group built a lead of more than 18 minutes. At that point, Armstrong's team manager gave Hincapie the green light to ride for himself.
