

McDonald News By Vera Kacirek

Fall Harvest was going well in the McDonald and Beardsley elevators which were taking in corn and beans on Saturday and Sunday but it came to an abrupt halt on Monday morning with everyone in the area receiving needed rain. Considering the overall picture the rain will do so much good for the newly planted wheat and will only delay the harvest for a few days.

Jay and Rose Gordon were Saturday, Sept. 30, visitors of Ray and Vera Norris in Fort Morgan, Colo. Eleanor Swihart and Joan Tongish attended a Western Plains

Arts Association Committee meeting in Colby on Saturday.

Eleanor Swihart has a new great granddaughter. The new baby, Eleanor Huber is the granddaughter of Alison Swihart in Kansas City.

Laddie and Vera Kacirek were Sunday brunch guests of R.J. and Susie Sabatka.

Karlyne Atchison and Amelia Banister were Sunday dinner guests of Kent and Joan Banister at the restaurant in Bird City. In the afternoon Kent took Amelia to St. Francis where they visited Irene Kehlbeck and Viola Jones.

Lakin Denny of Colby was a guest of her grandparents, Greg and Cheryl Wilkinson on Thursday and Friday.

Owen and Phyllis Wingfield spent the weekend in Alma with Greg and Dina Wingfield and family and attended a ball game in which their granddaughter, Molly was playing. They also drove to Oklahoma and Eureka Springs and south eastern Kansas in search of genealogy of the Wingfield family.

Family reunion held in September

The annual Magley reunion was held this year at the home of Helene Landenberger on Sunday, Sept. 24. Helene's brother, Fred Magley with his daughter, stepson, grand and great grandchildren, toured his farm southwest of Bird City. Besides seeing the old farm again, the object was to show grandson Alex Glanzer, the antique car that is to become his to drive. Upon their return, around 2 p.m., a potluck meal was served from the bench in the south part of the garage, with many delicious dishes to choose from. Cowboy coffee and beans were served from a portable campfire. A picnic table and various other tables and chairs in the yard and main garage, afforded the large crowd with places to enjoy the meal.

After dinner, catching up on happenings, sharing of pictures, and various games were enjoyed by all. There was quite a group of young people with Lex and Toni in charge, engaging boomerangs in the large vacant lot north of Helene's house. Their dog, Lucy was quite perplexed, that there was just no catching the fool things! Kathy Woodcox and Tango were giving pony cart rides and Hailey on Apache was giving horseback rides.

At 4 p.m., a program commenced, with Fred Magley presiding. Marsha Magley gave the lineage, so that those in attendance, who didn't, could understand their relation to each other. She conveyed that they were there as descendants of Johann and Maria (Zurlinden) Magley, who homesteaded in Rawlins County in April, 1885, and died there in 1889.

Representing their eldest child, Fred Sr., and his wife Hattie (Schield) Magley, who homesteaded in Cheyenne County in 1906, were the children of Arnold Sr. and Vera (Tippie) Magley, Fred D. and wife, Marsha, Arnold Jr., and wife, Sandy, and Helene R. (Magley) Landenberger, and Lavern Young, son of Fred Sr., and Hattie's only daughter, the late Naomi (Magley) and husband Don Young.

Fred D.'s children in attendance were son, Wayne F. Magley, wife, Marcee and daughter, Kathy Ann of Oakley; daughter, Marilyn Magley, her son, Alex Glanzer, daughter, Kerri Lynn (Glanzer) and husband, Jason Vance, with their three children, Lazzeros, Addison and Caroline Vance, all of Lexington, Neb.; and Wayne and Marilyn's half brother, Jesse Robinson of Colby, with his sons, Aaron and Joshua, also Joshua's half brother, Kenny Adams, both from Wheeler.

Helene's children in attendance were Kathy (Landenberger) and husband, Johnnie Woodox, children Hailey and J.T.; Lex and wife, Toni (Miller) Landenberger, with son Wyatt; J.R. and wife, Jennifer (Mullins) Landenberger, with children Emily, J.R. Jr., and Teagan and Toni's mother Elsie Cook.

Daughters of Johann and Maria's daughter, Mary (Magley) Bearley, attending were Emma Mae (Bearley) and husband, Don Threlkel, of Atwood and Elma Lee (Bearley) Erickson, of Herndon.

Youngest of the Johann and Maria Magley's children was John Magley Sr., who homesteaded just to the southwest of his brother, Fred Sr., 10 miles southwest of Bird City and had a family. John Sr. granddaughters, Mary Ann (Magley) Herman, and Michelle (Magley) Amaya, daughters of the late Frank and Mary (Sherlock) Magley, traveled from the front range to attend the reunion, along with Michelle's husband Art Amaya, Mary Ann's daughter Mandy and her sons Devin and Axton, Dixie Lee (Wray) Magley, wife of the late John F. Magley, John Sr.'s youngest son, was there with her son, Robin, his wife, Lori and their son, Johnan Adoniram, age 5 months, all of rural Bird City.

Fred started the sharing time with a humorous reading "For Sale, One Ford Car." Helene recited one of her poems that included her little Sheltie, C.R. called "Tumbleweeds," then told the story of the orphan twin piano rescue. Elma Lee Erickson of Herndon and sister Em Threlkel, performed a piano - harmonica duet. A quartet consisting of Marsha, Elma Lee, Em and Helene sang a humorous version of "Favorite Things." Wyatt Landenberger played three selections on the guitar, then the program was concluded with yodeling by Em and Helene, with Em playing the piano.

An exhibition of whip cracking by the Wild Rose Poet, had the little folks standing on chairs, wide eyed with necks stretched to see over the wood-vine covered fence. Those who had not been to Helene's house before, enjoyed touring it and especially the antique room with it's 1938 vintage bedroom set, large oval pictures of grandpa and grandma, Fred and Hattie Magley's Valley View Farm, about 1920 and Arnold and Vera Magley's wedding picture, 1926, on the walls. On the bed is a quilt of applied wild roses, constructed by Helene's mother, sometime in the 1960s.

The event was concluded, early evening, 43 people departing for their homes, with memories of a day well spent and looking forward to next year's gathering.

Judge will be special guest in St. Francis

Judge G. Joseph Pierron of the Kansas Court of Appeals will be at the St. Francis Senior Center at 1 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 26. Residents are encouraged to come and learn and be entertained.

The decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States have had a profound effect on American life and government since this nation's founding. An educational program on this vital institution must deal with serious issues, but that doesn't mean it can't also be entertaining.

In this program, Judge Pierron will present something different from any civics class you ever took. Recent U.S. Supreme Court cases are used to illustrate current controversies in human rights and responsibilities in America.

The audience members (who need no preparation) will gain a new perspective on the judicial process as they play the parts of the parties in court, the lawyers and the judges as the case proceeds all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court (but a whole lot faster than in real life).

A highly successful program in Kansas high schools and colleges and with adult groups over the last eight years, you will both enjoy and learn from it.

McDonald Area Development

Vice president, Kay Miller opened the Oct. 4 meeting of the McDonald Area Development with eight members and one guest, Betty Knapp present. The minutes and treasurer's report were read and accepted.

Lois Morelock reported that she had purchased two piñatas for the Halloween supper. This is always a fun activity for the kids in the community. Serving of the soup supper will begin at 5:30 on Halloween evening. Marlene Johnson will be asked to contact members for donations of food and to work.

Earla Connell presented an idea for a billboard to be placed on each side of town telling of the McDonald businesses. McDonald Area Development will pay for an ad to see who would be interested in participating. Earla will be responsible for this.

H. T. C. will be meeting at the Frosty Mug on Nov. 6 at 7 p.m.

McDonald Area Development will place an ad advertising the soup supper to appear in the papers before Halloween. The meeting was adjourned.
