Seeing the devastation that the earthquake brought to Haiti brings many thoughts to mind. Since I get to fill this space, here we go...

I've never been to Haiti but I did have a chance to visit Puerto Plata on the Dominican Republic side of the island. I can't imagine they are a whole lot different, it's just that the Dominicans have had a little less political upheaval over the years.

It was back in the 1980 and my only memory is of going into a small rum factory where one person's job was to throw defective bottles on the concrete floor. Also, everywhere you looked there were soldiers with machine-guns. It wasn't the kind of place you wanted to stay for long.

Perhaps the Dominican Republic has changed over the years and we were only next door to the French side of the island. But seeing and hearing about Haiti today makes it pretty clear that it qualifies as a "Third world nation."

Luckily our country is strong and can send a great deal of relief to the little nation. We are not alone as France, Israel, the United Nations and others are chipping in too.

It's a shame it happened in such a terribly poor place. And the aid we are sending will not bring people back to life or negate the damage. But it is still good to see the powerful help the weak.

Letters From Linda

I have talked to people who have read my column and found out that there are times when I just don't make any sense to them. I am not surprised at all by this nor am I offended.

The reason is that my opinions are influenced by my Christian faith and I know not everyone can follow my line of thinking. It is not any different than a cowboy listening to a gardener, or a mathematician listening to a politician. Anyway, on with my column.

For the past 10 or more days, I have been experiencing a restlessness, even a kind of doomsday feeling. I don't like it; however, I have learned that it will not go away unless I deal with it. And I have the feeling a lot of people are experiencing the same.

In the past, I would try to push the restlessness down by indulging in one of my several addictions, drugs, alcohol, unhealthy relationships, or shopping. And this is not as unusual as some may think, just because one or two of my addictions were illegal doesn't mean they are worse than yours.

But can you imagine 10 days of this! Waking up every morning wondering, waiting for something bad to happen and thinking the worse. Has that ever happened to anyone?

Well, I decided to ask God what was going on and guess what! The restlessness and doomsday feeling subsided and was replaced by expectations. I know it doesn't make sense, but it was true. I must add it was only through Jesus that God heard me and I know that doesn't make sense to some either, not unless you're a Christian and looking for answers.

You see, what made the restlessness subside was God's answer. Now your question might be "How do I know the answer was from God?"

Well, first of all, the answer is found in the Bible; second, it applies to my everyday situation, and thirdly, I am expecting great things to transform.

My addictions never gave lasting relief from my fears, let alone give me great expectations. You know, it really doesn't get any better than that.

I found a quick and painless cure.

When I developed hemorrhoids, my doctor recommended Hemcure...the painless, non-surgical treatment method performed by M.D.s. It took only a few short visits to the doctor's office. And since no recuperation was needed, I could resume my normal activities right away.

With Hemcure, curing my hemorrhoid problem was simple. Any cost, my insurance covered it.

Hemorrhoids aren't the easiest thing to talk about. But listen, if you've got hemorrhoids, why suffer? Do as I did and call to find out more.
