4-H'ers go to Denver

By KEITH VANSKIKE, County Extension agent

Tanner Griffith, Wesley Goergeson, Luke VanSkiike, Tim Becker, Jena Jessup and Katrina Wentz were the Norton County 4-H members attending the group's 54th trip to Denver on Jan. 24-26. Chaperones were Keith and Karen VanSkiike.

The Norton County Denver Trip Committee has helped to support this event starting out when several local stockmen, business leaders and 4-H supporters put the trip together.

Local volunteers and 4-H supporters have helped over the years to provide a tour for the groups, which coincides with the National Western Stock Show held in Denver each year.

The group toured the National Western Stock Show and Professional Rodeo Cowboy Association rodeo, Stephanie's Chocolate Factory and the Federal Mint and Reserve Bank.

The group took part in the Fellowship of Christian Cowboy service before the rodeo, visited Look Out Mountain and the Buffalo Bill Museum, attended a showing at the Denver IMAX theater and visited the Rocky Mountain Sire Unit. They also had fun at Casa Bonita Restaurant, Funplex Rec Center and the Hard Rock Cafe.

Lois Rostek and Treva Patterson, Girl Scout leaders for Norton County, are almost lost in a mountain of boxes. Hundreds of cases of Girl Scout cookies were delivered Tuesday morning to the National Guard Armory where Mrs. Rostek and Mrs. Patterson counted, sorted and stacked cookies before scouts and their parents were scheduled to pick up their orders.

Winter 'Cover Your Acres' a success

Many times I write an article about an upcoming event and do not include a follow-up article. However, in the case of the Cover Your Acres Winter Conference, I am going to deviate from that.

Close to 300 producers attended the conference which was held at The Gateway in Oberlin on Feb. 17. The conference was a collaboration between K-State and the Northwest Kansas Crop Residue Alliance with the main focus being strip-till in row crops and no-till wheat.

Speakers from K-State, the University of Nebraska, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture-Natural Resources Conservation Service along with private industry agronomists and area farmers spoke.

Farmers and agronomists from Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado attended the event. Everyone from the attendees to the sponsors said they were happy and that they would attend this conference next year.

I was thrilled with the response, but definitely acknowledge that without all the help and support, this would not have been possible. I would like to thank the sponsors of this event for defraying the cost for producers, and I would also like to thank the Extension Program Development Committees in each county, the executive board members from Decatur, Byron Hale, Keith VanSkiike, and the members of the Northwest Kansas Crop Residue Alliance for their help.

There was a record kept of the event and if a producer would like a copy, please send a check for $3 made out to K-State University, Northwest Area Extension, Attn: Brian Olson, Box 786, Colby, Kan. 67701 with your name and address.

I look forward to planning next year's conference, so please let your local Extension Program Development committees, myself, or members of the Northwest Kansas Crop Residue Alliance know what topics you would like to have covered. Please e-mail me at bolson@oznet.ksu.edu if you have any questions or would like to see a newspaper article on a specific crop production topic.
