Dorothy Louise Beach

Oct. 10, 1930 - April 5, 2005

Dorothy Louise Beach, 74, died Thursday at the Andbe Home.

Mrs. Beach, the daughter of Ross Anthony and Alta Louise (Damewood) Greene, was born Oct. 10, 1930, in rural Logan.

She attended rural school in the Logan-Densmore area.

On Jan. 21, 1947, she married Leslie Lewis Beach in Densmore. They lived on the farm near Densmore for six months before moving to Norton, where they lived and raised their family. Mr. Beach died June 27, 1992.

She was a homemaker, who took particular pride in her daughters and grandchildren.

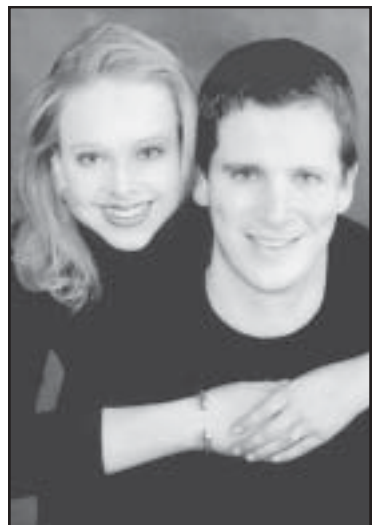

She was a member of the First United Methodist Church and was an accomplished artist. She enjoyed embroidery and sewing.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her husband, three brothers, Ross, Gene, and Don, a sister, Mary, and a son-in-law, Spencer Madden.

Survivors include two daughters, Becky Madden and partner, Louis Anderson, Almena, and Sherry and Mike McGee, Houston, Texas; a brother, Jack Greene, Wichita; a sister, Dee Radloff, Pueblo, Colo.; and two grandchildren;

Graveside services and burial were held today at the Logan Cemetery.

A memorial has been established to the Andbe Home. Contributions may be sent in care of the Enfield Funeral Home, 215 W. Main, Norton, Kan. 67654.

Farmer's markets are great place to get fresh produce

Farmer's market season is approaching. These markets are a great resource for fresh produce and other foods.

In Kansas, there are rules and regulations for the sale of foods in farmer's markets. Here are a few you should consider before starting a farmer's market or taking some of your products to one:

- Frozen meat is allowed only if processed in state or federal facilities and kept frozen.
  - Fresh meat, meat products, poultry and fish are prohibited.
  - Eggs must be kept refrigerated.
- Producers must register with the Kansas Department of Agriculture.

Home ed Tranda Watts, Extension specialist

•Homemade jams and jellies are allowed. All other home-canned foods are prohibited.

•Foods not deemed potentially hazardous are allowed. These include baked goods like cookies, breads, fruit pies, cakes and cinnamon rolls. Other foods include fruits, vegetables, nuts and honey.

•Packaged foods must be properly labeled with the name of the product and the name and address of the producer.

If you are considering taking part in a farmer's market this year, visit www.oznet.ksu.edu/farmersmarkets/welcome.htm or e-mail twatts@oznet.ksu.edu.

History tour will visit two small towns

Oberlin Arts and Humanities Commission will sponsor a history tour to Kanona and Norcatour on Sunday, April 24.

The group will leave from The Gateway parking lot at 2 p.m. The first stop will be at the original town site of Kanona. Historian Ethel Johnson Taylor and others will talk about the history of the town.

The second stop will be in Norcatour at Elden Auker Park on Main Street. Ron Temple, Frank Ward and others will talk about the history of Norcatour.

The group will then go to the Norcatour community building to view photographs and historical items from the two towns.

Refreshments will be provided by the Decatur County Museum and the Oberlin Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Those with items of interest are asked to bring them to share.

For details, call Ella Betts at 475-3557 or Mary Henzel 475-3329.

Elementary students jump rope for heart research

Almost 130 third through sixth-grade students at Eisenhower Elementary participated in this year's "Jump Rope For Heart".

They promoted cardiovascular fitness while raising $8,262.82 for the American Heart Association.

The event, coordinated by Joan Bolt, the school's physical education and health teacher, was meant to teach students on the benefits of regular exercise, volunteerism and to raise money for heart research and public education.

"This event was a huge success," Mrs. Bolt said. "This disease and what it does has a close impact on so many of the students. They feel good about making a difference and being part of the fight against heart disease. It's super when you see the students working toward a goal when it involves helping people."

Students collected from $5 to as much as $200 each. The highest fund raiser was fifth grader Rhees Carlson, who collected $218. She is the daughter of Dale Carlson and Dr. Glenda Mauer.

Students who collected over $150 are eligible for a Disney World family vacation drawing sponsored by the association. The drawing will be in July. Students eligible for the drawing are Jordan Wahlmeier, Rhees Carlson, Robert Blecha, Mariah Farber, Bekah Streck, Missy Byler, Ashley Millan, Drew Ellis and Jared Bohl
