Dwight L. Vise

July 20, 1934 - May 9, 2005

Dwight L. Vise, 70, Beaver City, died Monday at Tri-Valley Hospital, Cambridge, Neb.

Mr. Vise was born July 20, 1934, at Wilsonville to Everett and Florence (McConnell) Vise.

He graduated from Wilsonville High School in 1952 and moved to Norton.

In 1955, he married Ruth Freede. They divorced in 1971.

While living in Norton he worked for Thompson Sand and Gravel, Ideal Truck Line and Meadow Gold Milk as a mechanic.

He moved to Oakley in 1970, where he worked for Siebert Sand and Gravel and later Allied Sand and Gravel Company until 1990. While living in Oakley his nickname was "Ducky".

He married Pauline Schiltz in 1972 and they divorced in 1978.

On Nov. 26, 1982, he married Ruth (Cozad) Gallentine at Oakley. They moved to Beaver City in 1990 where he worked for Sands Livestock. He started working for the City of Beaver City in 1991 and retired in 1998.

Following retirement, he worked at the Senior Center and later at the Beaver City Plaza. He had attended the Christian Church in Norton and the Grace Brethren Church in Beaver City.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a son, Richard Vise in 1990; and a step-son, Shawn Gallentine in 1994.

His survivors include: his wife, Ruth, Beaver City; four daughters, Loretta and John Gjeltema, Antioch, Tenn., Karla Vise and Susan Wallace, Wolfe City, and Tamera and Mike Kaltenbach, Oakley; four step-sons, Kirk Gallentine, Salina, Doug and Kim Gallentine, Norton; Brett and Vicky Gallentine, Prairie View, Bob and Durena Schiltz, Garden City; four step-daughters, Brenda and Marcus Krontz and Sharon and Richard Zerr, Oakley, and Janet and Glen Boeger and Connie Schiltz, Colby; three brothers, Wayne and Helen Vise, Springfield, Mo., Robert and Dorothy Vise, Beaver City, and John and Sharon Vise, Boise, Idaho; three sisters, Naedean Whitney, Norton, Jean and Jim Kiker, Tacoma, Wash., and Sharon and Tim Tillotson, Wilsonville; 34 grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren; and eight great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Thursday at Grace Brethren Church in Beaver City with Pastor Dwain Fowler, officiating. Burial was at the Lyle Cemetery. Wenburg Funeral Home of Beaver City was in charge of arrangements.

On-line condolences or personal reflections may be left at: www.wenburgfuneralhome.com.

Top teams trade places in tourney

By JAKE DURHAM

As the second round of the Norton National Bridge Tournament came to a close, the number one and two teams traded places as Jack Graham and Bob Kendall, who were only 10 points off of the lead after round one, moved into the top spot with 8,110 points, and Paul Schultz and Thelma Bushnell, leaders after round one, slipped into second with 7,283 points.

Mary Jane Wahlmeier and Jackie Porter, moved from sixth into third, Norman Walter and Joyce Sumner moved from seventh to fourth and rounding out the top five was the team of Dewaine Stapp and Leone Purton who were in fifth place after round one.

Mary Lou Archibald substituted for Claudia Bridges.

There were no slams bid and made, although there were quite a few six- and seven-trick hands, but the match-up for the bidding wasn't there. With one round to go, there could be some bizarre performances as everyone is in contention. Long suits and high cards can score high points and communication and determination are a major factor.

Word has it that several authorities on the game will be in attendance for the final round with the possibility of gleaming some outstanding hands to use in their syndicated columns.

Quilt club has last meeting of year

By BEVERLY KINDLER

The May 9 meeting of the Heritage Quilt Club was the last meeting for this program year. Thirty-seven members and a guest, Elizabeth Gannon, shared a salad buffet at the Prairieland Electric basement meeting room.

This was followed by "Show and Tell" that featured 11 "Frayed Rose" quilted items made in a workshop taught by Regina Stark; 11 "Row Upon Row" quilts; a scrap quilt titled, "Chicken Feed"; a quilt made with the "Potato Chip" design; a flag rag quilt; wall hangings; placemats; and a wall quilt made for the Lacota Sioux of Mission, S.D.

Julie Geiger, owner of Prairie Point Junction Quilt Shop in Cozad, Neb., did a power point presentation of Quilt Market 2005 in Kansas City, which she and her staff attended in April.

She gave information about designers and companies, fabric trends and new products. She also had a trunk show of patterns, fabrics and examples of quilted items. She said that her shop has been selected as one of the Top Ten Quilt Shops to be featured in the September, 2005, issue of Quilting Sampler, by American Patchwork and Quilting. She and her staff have designed a quilt pattern to be introduced in that issue. It is called, "The Rambling Prairie Quilt".

Terri Uden assisted Ms. Geiger. Plans for the summer challenge were announced by Jerris McMullen and Kathie Skrdlant. Pauline Poage will conduct a workshop on "Stack 'n' Whack" in June. Cheryl Roberts will make plans for a "Block of the Month" project for next year.

Officers were elected for two-year terms. They are Regina Stark, president; Lavon McCormack, secretary; and Jan Volgamore, treasurer.

Door prizes were won by Cheryl Roberts, Jerris McMullen, Lois Myers, Karla Anderson and Audrey Wiltfong.

Hostesses were Lois Myers, Freda Weyand, Joyce Trumbo, Anise Gill and Ruby Pfeiffer.

Veggies and fruit are still good for you

That old saying, "Eat your vegetables and fruits," is still good advice.

Nutrition and health research indicate eating fruits and vegetables can help lower blood pressure and reduce risk from illness.

These include pulmonary and other diseases such as diabetes and macular degeneration, the leading cause of blindness in older adults, as well as some cancers. Plant foods are thought to reduce wrinkling of the skin as well.

Adding health-promoting fruit and vegetable servings each day need not be difficult.

My office offers an update on recommended servings for optimum health, serving sizes, and reference lists of health-promoting fruits and vegetables and phytochemicals.

Try answering these true-or-false statements:

• Oranges and some yellow vegetables — yellow peppers and corn, for example — contain high amounts of the pigment lutein,

Home ed Tranda Watts, Extension specialist

• Folic acid, a B vitamin found in dark green, leafy vegetables, helps prevent birth defects and reduces risk of heart disease.

Each of the above statements is true. To learn more about the relationship between fruits and vegetables and your health, call me to all who sent cards and flowers or came to my 40th anniversary party at the First State Bank. It was such an enjoyable day. A special thanks to the FSB personnel for such a great and wonderful day.

A Big Thank You

Thanks for the memories. ~ Sandy Preuss
