

WILSONVILLE NEWS

By VELMA HOLSTE and LAURIE LAWS

Richard and Dora Shaw's guests for the Fourth of July weekend were their daughter, Tina and her son Zachary, Auburn, Neb., and their son Chad and Lisa and their cousin, Cameron, Greeley, Colo.

Carla Holtze accompanied by Velma Holtze took her grandson, Jake Hoagland, to Holdrege where they met his mother, Kendra Hoagland, Hastings. Jake had spent several days with his grandparents.

Following church services, Avis Wolfe and Velma Holtze ate dinner together in Beaver City. They met Harold and Pat Yost eating out also and shared their meal with them.

Darrel Palmer returned home Sunday after spending more than a week in the McCook hospital. Besides his family, Earnest and Jan ten Bense, Dean and Margaret Brown and Kathy Lewis visited him at the hospital.

Jim and Becky Holtze helped move their daughter, Janene, back to college at Beatrice, where she resumed classes.

Connie Wilson drove to Galva on the Fourth of July to attend funeral services for her aunt, Beulah Morse, who lived in Texas. She was an overnight guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Morse. She returned home following the services.

Wind, Rain and Hail

The area was visited by quite a mysterious storm a little while back. While some were grateful for the 1/2 inch or more of rain, others experienced high winds, while others received hail along with the rain. Precipitation in Wilsonville varied from .15 to .6. East of town 1 1/2 miles, they received none. Two miles west, the Doug Palmers lost some windows and had some siding damaged by the hail. Brian Holtze and Gary Brown reported some damage to their corn. Jeff Ahlmeyer south of town received 1.65 inches of moisture.

Wilsonville Improvement Meeting

The Wilsonville Improvement group met recently at Village Park. Reports were made on the bushes and trees that have been planted and the new picnic tables.

Members discussed the need to have the park sprayed for weeds and sandburrs, which Dick McLaughlin did a few days after the meeting.

It was reported that Rilee Park painted park equipment with paint purchased by Carolyn Park. Members learned that a community picnic is planned for Sunday, Sept. 4. A call for volunteers to help work on the landscaped area at the south end of Main Street.

Food For Camp Joy

Twelve women from Baptist-Christian women met at the church bringing food stuffs, including cakes, cookies and brownies in addition to canned foods and juices for Camp Joy.

President Margalee Ruf conducted the meeting.

The club heard Thank-Yous read from the Domestic Abuse Center in McCook and from the Rev. Kenneth Moore, state minister, for the offering they received last month. Members also learned of ministries by White Cross chairman, Alice Kasson; Gillian Park's Romania mission; the Child Saving Institute articles to be presented in September by a guest speaker; and the piggy bank for Heath Ruf's baby boy.

President Ruf shared some patriotic thoughts by quoting the closing paragraph of Franklin D. Roosevelt's Fourth of July address in 1941, just five months before Pearl Harbor. Becky Holtze had prepared a patriotic worship table and closed with a meditation and Velma Holtze gave the dedication prayer for the camp gifts.

Hostess Connie Wilson served fresh fruit cups and cookies. Members loaded Velma's car with all the gifts and she and Margene drove to Alma immediately. That week the camp had 79, 8-10 year olds registered.

At the next meeting, members planned to go to the Beaver City Manor.

This past week some wonderful words were printed in the "Spotlight on Beaver Valley". It was an insert in the McCook paper. It focused on the hidden treasures this Valley holds in the towns of Hendley, Wilsonville, Lebanon, and Danbury. Many people commented to this correspondent, what a welcome relief it was to have a more honest view of our small towns than all the ugliness of a small number of unhappy people.

This week Shelly Anderson will be having surgery in Hastings. Shelly's mom, Laurie Laws will be helping with her recuperation.

Guest in the Margaret Spence home this week were Ron and Veda Krauss who brought dinner with them on Thursday evening.

Last Saturday evening Ron and Dee Anderson, (of Wilsonville) Rick, Shelly, Austin and Max Anderson, (of Minden) Jason, Michelle, Kayla and Wyatt Anderson (of Gothenburg) along with Dora and Richard Shaw and Delbert and Laurie Laws all traveled to Beaver City for the Demolition Derby. This has become an annual get together for the families.

This past Friday morning Connie and Allen Wilson took off on a weekend road trip to Northern Nebraska. While on the road they stopped near Valentine and saw Fort Falls by the Niobrara River they enjoyed a lovely nature walk by the Falls and Connie got to cool her heels in the Niobrara river. They also drove to Smith Falls, which is the tallest Falls in Nebraska. They returned home on Sunday evening.

Margene Holtze of Cambridge accompanied by her mother, Velma Holtze, drove to Elm Creek Tuesday evening, July 26 where they met Velma's other daughter, Ivalene Sim-mons of Oshkosh. They drove to Lincoln. Velma had knee replacement surgery Wednesday noon at the Lincoln Surgical Center. On Thursday morning, Margene returned to Cambridge and Ivalene to Holdrege to assist her daughter, Caroline, Chris and Caden Erickson prepare to move to their new home. They returned on Friday evening and brought Velma to the Cambridge hospital on Saturday where she will be recuperating.

As always, one always meets someone from home. One of the first admission people they met was Peggy Rasmussen, the mother-in-law of Janet Harding Rasmussen of Cambridge. The next was a nurse who cared for Velma on Thursday and Saturday. She was the daughter-in-law of Ted Fellers, a college instructor in McCook. On Friday night, Velma's nurse was the former, Rhonda Roberts, of Cambridge.

Orders were frequent stops and walking a bit. So a stop was made in Holdrege to view the Erickson home. Velma was helped in to the house by grandsons, Russ and Rich Simmons who were there assisting in the moving. The Simmons family from Hays and North Platte were also helping Caden celebrate his fifth birthday.

Visitors of Velma in Lincoln were Jim and Becky Holtze, Janene Holtze, Justin and Jolene Miller and family, Brian Holtze and Lyndzie Claus who were vacationing at Mahoney Park. Gloria Erickson of Holdrege was also a visitor on Friday afternoon.
