State Fair was highlight of 4-H year

By Melinda Becker

One of the highlights of my 4-H year was going to the state fair. I participated in the photography judging. I got fourth place at the county level sending me to the state fair. It was more challenging than at the county level. First you take a test that asks questions about photography and then you judge photos. I don't know what place I got. I also sent a photograph to the state fair. I got a blue on it. The other thing I got to do was look at other exhibits. It was fun to see what other 4-H'ers across the state had done. Going to the state fair was a great experience.

Self-determined project is creative fun

By Phillip Becker

I am in a self-determined project. In this I can do whatever project I want. I took it so I could make models and wood projects. In this you create a project by developing the what, why, when, where, who and how into an action plan designed by and for a self-determined project.
