

Busy Beavers see members' projects on club tour

Submitted by Joy Johnson

Busy Beavers 4-H Club hit the road for their July meeting. We had not done a club tour for many years so our officers decided that it was about time. We formed a committee that decided our route and we were off and running. We first stopped at the Juenemann farm and saw Emily's pig and horse project. Just down the road was our second stop. The Ambrosier girls gave us the opportunity to see a litter of puppies, a couple of bucket calves and Bailey showed us some tricks that her dog can do. We all jumped into our vehicles and headed closer to town. Wesley gave us the opportunity to see one of his lambs and Johnnye displayed her outfits for her clothing project. We hit the half way point when we stopped at Claudia's sheep project. She gave a demonstration on how to show lambs and gave an informative talk on what to look for when picking out lambs and what the judge looks for.

Down the road we headed to off to check out Skylar's and Kelli's lambs and they also showed off their buymanship outfits and Kelli was painting a big ceramic fish for the fair.

Hannah brought along her crafts of a painted bulletin board, decorated memory box and a pair of decorated jeans to display for the tour. Kyra decorated a paint brush and picture frame for her dog by cutting up pop cans and gave a demonstration with her horse, River.

The vehicle caravan moved along Highway 283 and then east to the Harting farm. Our group of 4-H'ers were delighted to see the swine project of Kolton, Wyatt, Alec and Riley. We were then entertained with the goats that belong to the Harting boys. Wyatt gave us a demonstration on how to milk a goat. We also got to see a litter of baby pigs. They were so cute and lovable. The final stop was in the horizon. Austin and Adrienne delighted us with their bucket calves and their horse project. Lauren showed off her latch hook pillow and her sister's cross stitch project. By this time our 4-H'ers were hungry. We had a hotdog roast and homemade ice cream to complete our club tour.
