Snow signals time for car kits

When the nation's upper elevations start getting snow in late fall, that's a clear signal that "lowlanders" should start assembling a winter weather kit for their car.

It is recommended that once liquids start freezing in the garage, travelers also take a fresh water supply along on each trip. Melting the rock-solid bottle of water stored in your trunk isn't a pleasant task - especially if you're stressed and stranded.

Everyone's kit should include the items the Federal Emergency Management Agency suggests: a shovel, ice scraper, flashlight, battery-powered radio, extra batteries, water, snack food, extra hats and mittens, blanket, tow chain or rope, road salt and sand, booster/jumper cables, emergency flares and fluorescent distress flags.

As you're getting ready for a long trip or travel in a remote area, you might want to add a cache of money or a credit card. You also should consider carrying along a several-days supply of medications you must take regularly - in case you don't get back home as soon as you planned.

Other good ideas are candles, an empty coffee can and matches. They can serve as an alternate heat source, if you're stuck and your engine won't run. You won't want to build up an unsafe level of smoke and carbon monoxide, so a window should be opened a bit while the candles burn - just as you do when you run the motor in a stalled car. The can will still emit heat for a while after you blow out its candle and shut the window again.

Norton County will see very nice weather for this time of the year over the next 7-10 days. Today, Friday and over the weekend afternoon highs will be 10 to 15 degrees above normal. A cool front tomorrow will cool things some Wednesday and Thursday, but we do not expect any moisture to squeeze from the sky. Current long range weather data calls for above normal temperatures and dry weather through the first three weeks of December. We'll have to cross our fingers for a possible white Christmas.
