Hair cuts do their part in finding a cure

Beauty shops and salons in Norton and Alma recently took part in a fund raiser called "Cuts For the Cure". It is part of the effort to raise money for the Norton Relay for Life, scheduled for June 22-23.
Five beauty and barber shops cut hair or performed salon services to raise money for the event. Team Captain chairperson, Sarah Durham, said the event has raised, to date, approximately $400. Contributing were Gil's Barber Shop, The Razor's Edge, Bella Villa, Doris' Beauty Shop and Rita's Beauty Shop. Norton Animal Health Center held sort of a "beauty shop" for animals and donated their fee for trimming pets' nails to the event. All Creatures Vet Clinic, Alma, was another participant.

With events still to come, Elleven spa and salon will host an event later this month. Norton

Flowers Gifts and Greenhouse and Garden Gate Florals and Gifts will both sponsor events to raise money for Relay For Life.
Mrs. Durham said, "The Norton community has certainly risen to the occasion. We can all look forward to even bigger and better events in the future."
To learn more about forming a team for the relay or hosting a fund raiser, call Mrs. Durham at 874-4405.

Baking tradition continues on

For over 30 years, Phillips County residents enjoyed baked goods from the kitchen of the late Pauline Kester. Now, her daughter, Patricia Bennett, is continuing that tradition. She has taken over her mother's daily baking orders and holiday bake sales.

Mrs. Bennett has compiled a cookbook titled, "Patricia's Kitchen Favorites", containing over 370 recipes. She will be hosting a personal book signing from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Friday and Saturday at White's Foodliner, 934 3rd St., Phillipsburg. The hardbound book will sell for $18.

About the project to preserve the traditional recipes from her family kitchen, she said, "This is something I've always wanted to do. I'm very proud to share this life-long dream and some of the special recipes from my family along with the best recipes from our dearest friends."

The cookbook contains special touches like personal comments, family wisdom, poems and, of course, the famous Pauline Kester cinnamon roll recipe.

Mrs. Bennett may be contacted at 302 West F. St., Apt. 19, Phillipsburg, Kan. 67661 or call her at 785-543-1994.
