

Quilts auctioned at annual bazaar

By BETTY OTTER

The New Almelo Bazaar was held Saturday, Aug. 11. It was a very warm evening but parishioners, former parishioners and persons from the neighboring communities enjoyed the celebration.

Three hundred thirty-two adult tickets and 64 children's tickets were sold for the barbecued beef and port, all-you-can-eat supper in the air conditioned Parish Hall.

Also inside, were the bake sale with breads, cakes, cookies, pies and jellies. The fancy-work booth had baby blankets, place mats and dish towels.

Outside, the children's games were busy with the Pop Toss and Beanie Baby Toss. The Spinner had many stuffed toys, and the last to close after 10 p.m. The color wheel had a prize every time it was turned. The little ones kept the fish pond a'hopping. A new booth this year was face painting. Rachel Slipke showed her artistic talent with bugs, butterflies and flowers on just about every child at the bazaar.

Greg Otter's train gave rides all evening, even in the dark. The basketball throw along with the little tykes goal did a bang-up business. The baseball throw was still going when the other games closed.

A choice between pork burgers and hamburgers was given this year. The stand opened at 7:30 p.m.

At 8 p.m. the quilt auction got underway with Mike Weimer, Hoxie, donating his auctioneering talents to help raise money for the bazaar. There were 14 homemade quilts, a full-sized afghan, a baby afghan and two baby quilts. Also auctioned off was a framed and matted hand-painted picture by Janice Linden, Ponca City, Okla.; a picture of an Indian chief; a wolf created by Robert Kessler, Lakin; a 20-gallon crock; and a 6-gallon crock.

The names of the quilts, the buyer and the amount paid are: "Double Wedding Ring" was bought by Fran Otter for $425; "Wildflowers" was bought by Ruby Heikes for $625; "Purple Hearts" was bought by Bob Mindrup for $750; "Star Medalion" was bought by Lisa Mindrup for $450; "Pink and Mauve" was bought by Bob Mindrup for $1,075; "Rose Bud and Lace" was bought by Tom Fox for $850; "Pink Tulips" was bought by Fran Otter for $475; "Southwest" was bought by Jerry Nickelson for $450; "Kansas Troubles" was bought by Steve Otter for $1,100; "Sun Bonnet Sue" was bought by Gary Bruinekool for $550; "Colonial Stencil" was bought by Randy Gassmann for $1,050; "Around The World" was bought by Ruby Heikes for $700; "Pinwheel" was bought by Adrian Streit for $400; "Patriotic" was bought by Bob Day for $400; "Raggedy Ann and Andy" baby quilt was bought by Linda Becker for $100; "Soft and Bright" baby quilt was bought by Tonya Juenemann for $60; "Yellow Heart" baby afghan was bought by Raymond Slipke for $60; a full-sized "Brown and White" afghan was bought by Jim Ninemire for $80; Adrian Streit bought Janice Linden's painting for $350 and Marion Otter bought Robert Kessler's picture for $150;

the 20-gallon crock was bought by Adrian Streit for $210; and the six-gallon crock was bought by Angie Feldt for $130.

The give-away prizes were won by: Bob Mindrup, a potted plant; Kayla Murphy, quilt; Ardith Scheetz, barbecue; Paul Oberding, $200; Randa Vollertsen, $100; Pam David, $50; and Mark Koenigsman, a $25 gift certificate to the Country Corner in Lenora.

Bingo was played right after the auction. Kristin Georgeson, Lenora, won the "Black Out".

"Wally and the Bass Bones" provided music for the dance and for some good listening.

An Almelo couple received recognition for their dedication to the Almelo community.

Monday the Almelo PRIDE Committee, headed by President Fleta Hanlon, presented Stan and Twyla Cadwalader, owners of Almelo Market, a plaque recognizing the couple's hard work on behalf of the Almelo Community.

Mrs. Hanlon said, "We wanted them (the Cadwaladers) to know the town appreciates all they do. They've kept "our" grocery store open and keep it so nice and clean. They also maintain a good inventory."

Mrs. Hanlon added that Jeff and Jeanette Callaway, former owners of the store, deserve some recog-ognition too. She said they were the ones who rebuilt the store after a fire several years ago destroyed it. She said the work of the store's long-time employee, JoAnn Bowen, was also appreciated.

Other PRIDE members present were Eldo Graham, Dan Engelhardt, Lila Engelhardt, Alice Kuiper, Betty Bivens, Carolyn Bivens and Merle Hawks.

4-H and FFA entries go to state fair

By KEITH VANSKIKE,
Norton County
Extension Director

Members and volunteers of Norton County 4-H will be entering and sending some of their exhibits in the 4-H Departments at the Kansas State Fair beginning Sept. 7.

Some youth will have exhibits like clothing, foods, home environment, rockets, vegetables, arts and crafts, photography, and woodwork; others will enter animals while others will participate in person in participant events.

The 4-H exhibit building has been renovated and is named 4-H Centennial Hall and a large portion of "static" exhibits will be located there. These selections were designed as top purple awards at the county fair and eligible to go onto State Fair exhibit.

Those 4-H'ers exhibiting Foods and Nutrition exhibits are Marisa Maddy, Rebecca Wentz, Olivia Lowry, Megan Wentz, Carissa Wentz, Kelsie Griffith, Bryce Lofgreen.

Wyatt, Megan and Rebecca Wentz will be exhibiting a constructed clothing garment. Wyatt Wentz and Kelsie Griffith are also exhibiting a fiber arts patchwork quilt.

Other projects entered will be:

- Photography — Rebecca Wentz, Christopher Maddy, Michael Callaway, Marisa Maddy, Wyatt Wentz, Kelsie Griffith, Diedre Kramer, Jacob VanSkiike, Luke VanSkiike, Josh VanSkiike, Carissa Wentz, Katrina Wentz, Annette Becker, Tanner Griffith, Olivia Lowry;

- Flowers and Vegetable Exhibits — Joshua and Jacob VanSkiike;

- Rocket — Diedre Kramer and Wyatt Wentz;

- Wildlife Notebook — Luke VanSkiike.

Kelsie Griffith and Jacquelyn Cawley will exhibit Beef. Michael Callaway will enter sheep classes. Annette Becker, Wyatt and Katrina Wentz and Abbie Smith will exhibit their Arts/Crafts exhibits that were selected for competitive display. Michael Callaway will also enter a Home Environment Notebook and Wyatt Wentz will give a Demonstration/ Illustrated Talk.

Those who will compete and model in the Fashion Revue will include Katrina Wentz and Christopher Maddy, who will be exhibiting their purchased garments.

Keith VanSkiike, Norton County Extension Director, will enter exhibits and return exhibits from the Kansas State Fair and will be assisting with the woodwork and electrical exhibits, and other 4-H Building entries. Luke VanSkiike will be assisting with the electric department. Joshua VanSkiike will be judging the Rocketry and Jacob VanSkiike will assist with Rocketry. Carol and Tanner Griffith will be volunteers with the 4-H Photography department, coordinating the judging of projects where Ms. Griffith is Chair of the Photography department.

Elaine Lofgreen will be working with the Family and Consumer Science Judging Contest, and Patsy Maddy and Jamie Wentz will help to enter team members.

The judging contest and participant events include:

- Intermediate Family Consumer Sciences — team members are Marisa Maddy, Dylan Sprigg, Wyatt and Megan Wentz;

- Senior Family Consumer Sciences — team members are Tim Becker, Bryce Lofgreen, Dana Hillebrand and Katrina Wentz;

- Senior Photography — team members are Annette and Melinda Becker, Christopher Maddy, and Katrina Wentz;

- Intermediate Photography — team members are Wyatt and Rebecca Wentz, Sady Keilig, and Olivia Lowry.

Jacob Gallentine will participate in the Challenge of Champions at the State Fair. This is a skill-a-thon of Agricultural topics.

Kyra Fulton and Kylene Hager will enter their Horses during the second weekend of the State Fair.

REMINDER — Judging results from the State Fair can be accessed from the Internet at the web address www.oznet.ksu.edu/ksfair/.
