

Kirk Nuzum Family, 2007 Windbreak Award Winner

The Nuzum's windbreak is an eighth of a mile long and is made up of approximately 300 eastern red cedar. The windbreak, which was planted in 2002, protects the Nuzum's home and yard from wind and snow.

Misty and Kirk Nuzum spoke to Norton County Conservationist George Carter about their windbreak. The Nuzums used the CRP program to help pay for their windbreak.

Over the past year, Kirk said the trees in his windbreak have shot up a couple of feet. They are excited to see what happens with the trees in the next five to 10 years, he said.

Proudly supporting soil conservation in Norton County.
