Library plans a busy November

There is a lot going on at the Norton Public Library this fall.

The new displays are now in place for the last quarter of the year. Many events have been scheduled for November.

The library is the place for new books, DVDs, books on CDs, magazines, information and enjoyment. Check our website www.nortonpubliclibrary.org or call 877-2481 for updates on programming and services.

We've subscribed to a few new magazine titles including: Self, O (the Oprah Magazine), Food Network Magazine, Men's Journal, WebMD, ESPN, J-14 and Teen Vogue for the teens. All issues of a magazine are available to check out for two weeks, except for the most current issue.

The library has another great service for everyone. That is Interlibrary Loan (ILL). We are able to get almost any book you would like to read but Norton Public doesn't own, from another library. There is no charge to you and you can usually keep the item for three weeks before it needs to be returned.

Upcoming Events at Norton Public Library are:
Nov. 12 at 2 p.m.

Digital Photography Class with the use of the ELMER. This will be presented from the Salina

Public Library and will be for digital camera users of all experience levels.

Norton insurance agent receives award

Jeremie Krehbiel, CISR, AIP, with Bridges Group, Inc. in Norton has received the "Midwest Elite Force Top of Class" award from the Independent Insurance Agents of Nebraska.

The award was presented by past Independent Insurance Agents of Nebraska President Kathryn Kochenower at the association's annual meeting in Lincoln, in recognition of completing a rigorous, year-long course of study and earning the Associate in Insurance Production, professional designation conferred by the Independent Insurance Agents and Brokers of America.

"Jeremie stood out from all of the 2009 Midwest Elite Force students from Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky and Nebraska, due to his leadership, class attendance and participation, application of learned skills, and actual results," commented Kochenower.

The Midwest Elite Force School for insurance producers is co-sponsored by Independent Insurance Agents of Nebraska, the Kansas Association of Insurance Agents and six other Midwestern state insurance associations, and is based at Independent Insurance Agents of Nebraska's Learning Center in Lincoln.

Krehbiel has been an agent with Bridges Group since June 2007, after managing grain and livestock trucking firms in Dighton and Long Island since 1997. He attended Kansas State University as a music major and enjoys playing and singing in worship bands.

Krehbiel received an honorary FFA degree in 2005 for personally delivering a load of Hurricane Katrina relief supplies to Baton Rouge, La. in one of his firm's trucks. He and spouse Olivia have two children, daughter Emma Jo, 7, and son Jarrett, 4.

The Independent Insurance Agents of Nebraska and the Kansas Association of Insurance Agents are non-profit trade associations, representing over 5,000 independent insurance agents and their employees in both states. Independent Insurance Agents of Nebraska and Kansas Association of Insurance Agents members offer their clients choice, customization and claims assistance with a variety of insurance companies in all lines of insurance—property, casualty, life and health.

HANSEN MUSEUM

By SHIRLEY HENRICKSON
Hansen Museum Director

The Dane G. Hansen Memorial Museum is proud to present "Nashville Portraits: Photographs by Jim McGuire", organized by the Morris Museum of Art, Augusta, Ga., that opened Oct. 9 and will run through December 6.

This exhibition of sixty black and white photographs was selected from thousands of portraits shot over a period of more than thirty years by one of country music's most celebrated photographers, Jim McGuire. The exhibition reflects a continuing project that commenced in 1974 with a portrait of musician John Hartford, and it documents many of the leading figures in the world of country music, from such icons as Bill Monroe, Minnie Pearl and Lester Flatt to contemporary stars like Emmylou Harris, Nanci Griffith and Marty Stuart. This is an exhibition that will appeal to lovers of country music Americana, cultural history and beautiful photography.

As McGuire himself has pointed out, "Over the last 30-plus years, I have had the great good fortune to have met, photographed, and befriended many of my musical heroes. Most of us have a drawer full of snap shots that remind us of the good times. These are mine."

Photographer Jim McGuire might seem an unlikely fan of hillbilly music, since he grew up in New Jersey in the 1950's. But ever since his first encounter with Hank Snow's "Spanish Fireball" at the age of twelve, that music has been his muse. He became a professional photographer at the behest of an Air Force captain who volunteered him for an aerial reconnaissance mission in 1964, which entailed photographing Vietnamese villages while hanging out of a single-engine plane. Later, he learned basic darkroom skills from a local Vietnamese photographer and honed his skills photographing the troop buildup in Vietnam before receiving an honorable discharge in 1965.

Realizing that photography might serve as a suitable career, McGuire moved to New York and began assisting fashion photographer John Foote who introduced him to the work of Irving Penn. Penn's photographs of tradesmen with their tools inspired McGuire's acclaimed "Nashville Portraits" series (the subject of a separate SITES exhibition proposal), which features some of America's most influential singers, songwriters, and musicians, often with the instruments that are the tools of their trade.

Museum hours are M-F 9 a.m. - 12 p.m. & 1p.m. - 4 p.m.; Sat. 9 a.m. - 12 p.m. & 1 p.m. - 5 p.m.; Sun. & holidays 1 p.m. - 5 p.m. We are handicapped accessible, there is never an admission fee and we have a free Wi-Fi Hotspot in the Community Room. For more information about this and other exhibits, contact Shirley at 785-689-4846 or check out our web at www.hansenmuseum.org.

Osteoporosis and stroke screening available

Residents living in and around Norton can be screened to reduce their risk of having a stroke or bone fracture. The Norton County 4-H Building will host Life Line Screening on November 12. The site is located at 126 E. Park Street. Appointments will begin at 9 a.m.

Four key points every person needs to know:

1. Stroke is the third leading cause of death and a leading cause of permanent disability
2. 80 percent of stroke victims had no apparent warning signs

prior to their stroke

3. Preventive ultrasound screenings can help you avoid a stroke

4. Screenings are fast, noninvasive, painless, affordable and convenient

Screenings identify potential cardiovascular conditions such as blocked arteries and irregular heart rhythm, abdominal aortic aneurysms and hardening of the arteries in the legs, which is a strong predictor of heart disease. A bone density screening to assess osteoporosis risk is also offered and is appropriate for both men and women. Packages start at $139. All five screenings take 60-90 minutes to complete.

For more information regarding the screenings or to schedule an appointment, call 1-877-237-1287 or visit our website at www.lifelinescreening.com. Pre-registration is required.

Life Line Screening was established in 1993 and has since become the nation's leading provider of preventive screenings.
