lessons. A reception will follow from 3 p.m. - 5 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall at Colby UMC. Please share your stories and memories in a card shower for Mrs. Malcolm.

Cards may be sent to: Angie Malcolm Hughes, 4943 Sand Hill Drive, Colorado Springs, Colo., 80923

FYI

The Norton After-5 Club would like to invite all area women and their guests to attend the November Guest Night and annual auction on Nov 19 at 6:30 p.m. at Town and Country Kitchen on East US-36. The cost for the dinner and meeting is $8.00 per person. Reservations should be made by Nov. 17 by calling Mary Jane Hadley at 877-5897.

"PUMPKIN PATCH AUCTION" is the theme for the evening. The special feature for the evening is "PUMPKIN-TIZING GIFT FOR THE HIGHEST BIDDER". This annual event highlights homemade craft and food items which are auctioned off to provide support for the Stonecroft missionaries as well as the local After-5 Club. Don McMullen, local auctioneer, once again will provide his humorous touch to achieve the highest bid. Anyone wishing to provide items to be auctioned is encouraged to do so.

The Norton After-5 Club is proud to welcome as its speaker for the evening, Betty Rupp of Hays in "PUMPKIN-CATIONS". Ms. Rupp, a Minnesota transplant to Kansas, will share her story as she talks about trading places with others.

The Norton After-5 Club is non-denominational and represents clubs throughout the United States and Kansas. All area women are invited to attend.

There were three tables for duplicate bridge at the Norton Manor. First was won by Norman Walter and Claudia Bridges, second was won by Jim Frey and Nancy Brown and third place was won by Joyce Sumner and Jackie Porter.

William and Cassandra Artz

Area couple weds in Prairie View

Kassandra Beth DeWitt and William Weston Artz exchanged wedding vows on May 30. The ceremony took place at the Luctor Christian Reformed Church, rural Prairie View, at 5 p.m. Officiating was Pastor Jeff VanDerWee. Parents of the couple are Jerry and Gloria DeWitt, Prairie View, and Ken and Linda Artz, Phillipsburg. Grandparents include Dick and Ila DeWitt, Phillipsburg.

Kassy was escorted in by her dad in a beautiful ivory taffeta gown with a sweetheart neckline and a tank bodice with a "ruche" effect. The skirt and train were caught up with beads and Swarovski crystals, which were also featured in the bride's veil and hairpins. Her jewelry included a pearl necklace, which was a gift from the groom. She carried a bouquet with canna lilies, peonies, roses, carnations and tulips. Kassy's Maid of Honor was her lifelong friend, Jessica Thompson. Bridesmaids included Teresa Vonasek and Beth McDonald, friends of the bride; and her sister-in-laws Irene DeWitt and Trudi DeWitt. Kirsten Kingsbury, niece of the bride was the junior bridesmaid. Olivia Lentz, cousin of the groom, was the flower girl. Each bridesmaid carried a bouquet of one of the flowers in the bride's bouquet. Kassy's personal attendant was Jessica Skinner.

Attending Will were his best man and friend, Nathan Sanders. Groomsmen included Dustin Kendall and Derek Post, friends of the groom; and Jared DeWitt and Darrin DeWitt, brothers of the bride. Junior groomsman was Ian DeWitt, nephew of the bride. Christopher Watt, cousin of the groom, was the ring bearer, assisted by Kassy's nephews Dylan, Stanley and Dalton DeWitt.

Darian and Tierney DeWitt, niece and nephew of the bride, lit candles before the service; ushers were Kyle Brands and Jason DeWitt, cousins of the bride, and Eric Watt and Steven Watt, cousins of the groom. Attending the guest book, handing out programs, and assisting guests to sign quilt blocks were Tabitha Lamp and Jessica Brackney, friends of the bride.

Members of the Cousin and Kin bell choir included Sydney and Foster Brands; Alison Wilson, Stephanie Brands; Kaylee, Kelsie, and Kallyn DeWitt; Ethan and Macy DeWitt; Madison and Mason Brackney; Dalton Skinner; AJ Grammon; Conrad Hawley; John Sjolander; as well as the young members of the bridal party.

The couple exited the church to a shower of party poppers and good wishes. They left the church in Will's May 30, 1982 Indianapolis 500 Camaro pace car.

The reception, dinner, and dance were held under the tent at the beautiful Artz Family garden in Phillipsburg. Serving the meal were Kassy's aunts and uncles: Steve and Bev Brands, Max and Vanessa Wilson, Brian and Michelle DeWitt, Roger and Roxie DeWitt, Doris and Kenny Van Kooten, Jerald and Karen Huiting, Dennis and Cathy DeWitt, and Glenn and Kristen Brands and Will's aunt and uncle Pete and Jackie Horacek. Aunt Karen Huiting made the delicious "monogrammed" cakes and Aunt Kristen arranged and provided the flowers. Assisting at the reception table were Kassy's cousins Dana Grammon, Tami Rua, Crystal Hawley, Nikole DeWitt; Will's cousin Deb Watt; and Kassy's friend Hannah Troutner. Unable to attend was cousin Tina VanDerVelde.

Following a honeymoon trip to Kauai, Hawaii the couple are at home at 443 West Quail Road, rural Phillipsburg. They wish to express their thanks to family and friends who helped to make their day "extra special."

Wild Game Food Safety

Hunting season is in full swing and millions of hunters and their families will consume the meat as burgers, steaks, in stews, dried jerky and many other ways. The Center for Disease Control and Prevention is reminding all hunters to keep food safety in mind during the hunting season.

Diseases that spread from animals to humans are called "zoonotic diseases". There are many zoonotic diseases people can get from wild game. Most of these diseases make people sick when they eat undercooked meat, but some can make people sick from touching blood, muscle, brain tissue, and organs of a wild game animal.

You may be at risk of becoming infected with a disease when field dressing or butchering an infected animal or bird. This is especially true when there is no soap and water available with which to clean up. You can get infected if blood, muscle, organs or brain tissue of a wild animal comes in contact with your eyes, nose, mouth, or a skin cut.

Not only can you get sick from having direct contact with an infected animal's fluids or organs, but tools can also spread germs if not cleaned well. There are simple things you can do to protect yourself and your family from getting sick. Here are words of advice to safely field dress and butcher wild game.

Home ed Tranda Watts, Extension specialist

- Avoid all contact with visibly ill animals or those found dead.
- Use clean, sharp knives for field dressing and butchering.
- Wear eye protection and rubber or latex gloves (disposable or reusable) when handling carcasses.

- Avoid direct contact (bare skin) with fluid or organs from the wild game.
- Burn disposable gloves or place in a bag and throw away in the trash. Burn or bury inedible parts of the carcass after butchering.
- Wash hands as soon as possible with soap and warm water for 20 seconds or more and dry hands with a clean cloth.
- Clean all tools and reusable gloves used in field dressing and butchering with a disinfectant - such as dilute bleach.

Enjoy hunting this fall, but do it with food safety in mind.

If you have questions about wild game food safety, please feel free to contact your local K-State Research and Extension Office or e-mail twwatts@ksu.edu.

Club News

The meeting of the Beta Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International was held Nov. 2 at the home of Belinda Thalheim. Co-hostesses were Glenda Campbell, Staci Montgomery and Tiffany VanDerVeen. Nineteen members were present.

President Lynn Hehn called the business meeting to order. The minutes were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given. For unfinished business it was noted that a large print book titled the "The Seaside Letters" was donated to the Norton Library in memory of Alice Field. For new business, members decided to bring items to the December meeting for donation to God's Pantry and the Andbe Home. The annual silent auction was held. The next meeting will be Dec. 7 at 6:30 p.m. at Town and Country Kitchen. The meeting was adjourned with the collect.
