Children and adults learn a lot together in the kitchen. Tummy driven young people can add another component to an active, healthy lifestyle by learning to prepare their own food. Now that kids are out of school for the summer, why not take this time to teach your children (at almost any age) about cooking. Here are some tips from the American Baking Association to help figure out what your child should be able to do to help in the kitchen.

Age -Appropriate Kitchen Tasks

2 year olds can learn: Proper hand washing; to wipe table tops; to play with utensils; to scrub, wash, tear, snap, break into pieces; to move pre-measured ingredients from one place to another; and add ingredients to a bowl.

3 years: All of the above plus... Handle dough, begin kneading, simple shaping; pour cool liquids into mixture; mix dry ingredients with wire whisk or spoon (use an extra large bowl to contain mess); shake liquids; spread soft spreads; and place things in the trash.

4 years: All of the above plus... Peel loose skinned oranges or hard cooked eggs; move hands to form round shapes (dough pieces); mash fruits (bananas) or cooked vegetables; cut with dull scissors (snip green onions, dried fruits); set table.

5-6 years: All of the above plus... Help adult measure ingredients (stir, spoon, level); cut with a blunt knife (plastic or tableware); use a hand held egg beater or whisk; crush crackers in a bag with a rolling pin; sprinkle ingredients on salads, cakes, cookies, casseroles.

K-2nd graders: (ages 6 - 8): All of the above plus...Clean surfaces before and after; wash fruits and/or vegetables; gather ingredients, pans; grease or spray baking pans; stir dry ingredients, spoon in dry measure cup, level off; measure liquid ingredients; add measured dry and liquid ingredients into mixing bowl; learn to crack eggs; cut fruit, margarine or butter sticks with plastic or table knife on cutting board; push buttons on blenders, processors; knead dough; preheat oven (adults help load products in hot oven); wash dishes, put away ingredients or utensils.

3rd -6th graders: (Ages 9 - 12 and up) All of the above plus... Learn safe knife skills for chopping, dicing, and cutting; handle food equipment safely; place oven racks and load oven (while oven is cold); safe operation of electric mixer, microwave, bead machine, food processor and hand held blender; follow a recipe, measure accurately and prepare a product; read and interpret ingredient and food labels; handle/store food ingredients and finished products safely; plan and prepare simple meals, snacks; clean up - how and what to wash in dishwasher or by hand.

Teens: All of the above plus... Tasks requiring multiple preparation steps or close timing; create new flavor combinations, shapes or decoration; plan and prepare whole menus for meals or entertaining; make shopping lists and shop for ingredients; help younger children learn about food and how to prepare it; and enjoy cooking with peers.

Why not get started today? If you have questions relating to food preparation, please feel free to contact your local K-State Research and Extension Office or e-mail Tranda Watts at mailto:twatts@ksu.edu.

Fifty Kansas 4-H members will share in $37,150 in scholarships for the coming school year, a Kansas 4-H spokesperson said.

The scholarship program is funded by the Kansas 4-H Foundation. Recipients were honored at the 4-H Emerald Circle Banquet, held June 3 in Manhattan, which the foundation sponsors.

This year, scholarship recipients were selected from more than 200 applicants, said Gordon Hibbard, president of the Kansas 4-H Foundation.

According to Hibbard, this year's scholarship recipients represent 27 Kansas counties and four Kansas State University Research and Extension Districts. That means that the educational funds will be shared by students in 37 of Kansas' 105 counties.

The dollar value of the scholarships varies, with the average award being $743, he said.

The awards can be used to fund post secondary education, said Hibbard, who noted that many of the scholarship donors are former 4-H members who appreciate their educational experiences in 4-H.

Donors also include current 4-H families and others whose children have recently graduated from the programs. Hibbard cited the Allan and Carolyn Harms family of Sedgwick County, who established a Family 4-H Scholarship that will be awarded for the first time this year.

Recipients from Twin Creeks Extension District: Andrew Dempewolf, Clara L. Dubbs 4-H Scholarship; Joshua VanSkike, Gary and Lorraine Kilgore 4-H Scholarship; and Nolan Wasson, Orschlen Farm and Home 4-H Scholarship.

Fort Hays State University deans have named 887 students to the Dean's Honor roll for the spring 2010 semester, according to Dr. Larry Gould, FHSU provost.

The list includes undergraduate students only. To be eligible, students must have enrolled in 12 or more credit hours and have a minimum grade point average of at least 3.60 for the semester.

Students on the Honor Roll: Norcatur: Katrina Emily Wentz, senior, early childhood education.

Riding a bicycle safely

The Norton County Sheriff's office reminds everyone especially kids to think safety while riding a bicycle. Some things to keep in mind:

Use safety equipment (helmet elbow and knee pads).

In Kansas bicycles must follow the rules of the road the same as motorists.

Ride to the right with traffic not against it.

Be careful at intersections. Stop and look both ways.
