Big Brothers Big Sisters of Norton County invites the public to a community meeting, scheduled for July 21 at 7 p.m. at the Norton Public Library.

The agency, which has been operating in Norton County since 2001, will present information about its operations and outline different ways residents can get involved and help support the organization. Founded in 1904, Big Brothers Big Sisters is the nation's oldest and largest one-on-one mentoring organization. County commission approves purchase

The Norton County Commissioners approved a bid for a 911 console for the Sheriff's Office, at an estimated $68,000, during yesterday's meeting. Sheriff Troy Thomson told the commissioners it was time to make a decision regarding the console. By 2013, he said, emergency services across the state will be required to switch to narrowband radios. "I think we need to get the ball rolling. We need to have this done by Dec. 31, 2010," Thomson said. The commission discussed the bids, saying the Nex-Tech bid for $68,000 would be best because it included eight radios and 24 channels. A motion was made to approve the Nex-Tech bid. Vote taken, motion passed. Thomson said the 911 grant is paying for 62 percent of the new console. Norton County will pay $25,968. In an interview after the meeting, Thomson said the console they are currently using is 15 years old. The new one, he said, will comply with the mandate. "By 2013, all radios for emergency services will have to be narrowband capable," he said. The commission also discussed emergency warning systems in the county. "I've had a lot of positive comments about Code Red," said Commissioner John Miller. In other commission business: Norton County Health Department Administrator Gina Frack reported on the Beta Project site visit. She said representatives from various state and federal public health agencies will be in Norton on July 21 and 22. The commissioners presented Frack with a plaque from the Kansas Department of Health and Environment for the department's work distributing the H1N1 vaccine. •Curt Archibald, Norton County Solid Waste supervisor (County - Continued on Page 5)
