ing her findings. The Council agreed to support Nuttycomb's request for support in her research.

Rob Lawson, City Administrator, said the clean up week was complete and the city had transported 28.56 tons to the landfill. Cost was $1,942.08.

The railroad crossing on E. Lincoln was moved up on the priority list by Kyle railroad. A Kyle Railroad supervisor had contacted the City after he had looked at it to say he was moving the crossing up on the list.

Lawson reported that tree trimming is being done for utility purposes, and property owners will be contacted in the future to let them know the trimming is being done.

Toby Kuhn gave the public works committee report. They met with Dr. Roy Hartley and Dr. Craig Krizek regarding a drainage issue on the west side of the Norton Theatre. Photos of the area were submitted to the council for informational purposes. The council approved the drainage improvement project up to $3,000 from the special highway fund. This would not include work to the alley. Lawson said he will visit with Ted Sanko, owner of property next to the Theatre, to see if the city can do some work around his business to make improvements.

Other items of discussion were: utility service outside the city limits for Brian Schulze was approved;

No decision for purchases for the fire department from the Hansen grant has been finalized;

Norton police were praised for patrols on Halloween and the cordial relationship with the youngsters;

The city won a judgment against Tommy Finklea of Tommy's Trucks, and he has to make payment of $3,000 within 30 days. If he doesn't, it will be sent to Texas for enforcement.

Economic development members went to Hays to speak with Kansas Department of Transportation regarding the Highway 383 improvements.

The council went into executive session for discussion of non-elected personnel regarding the performance evaluation of an employee.

No action was taken as a result of the executive session.

Long Island

By WILMA VAHLE AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

All members have been sent a letter concerning the status of the unit for the coming year. It is requested that the enclosed postcard be returned as soon as possible.

Unless notified to the contrary, the Auxiliary will have a Christmas luncheon at noon Dec. 7 with husbands as honored guests.

A small business meeting will follow the meal. Instead of a gift exchange, a donation for the Phillips County food pantry would be appreciated.

AMERICAN LEGION

The Roy C. Goodrich, Post 304, met Tuesday, Nov. 2. Members attending were Robert Young, Paul Cox, Gordon Vahle, Dick Ames, Eldon Gebhard, John Hoffman and Ken Tharman. The meeting opened with the Pledge of Allegiance.

The report of the October meeting and the finance report were given and approved.

The annual Veterans Day program in Alma will start Thursday, Nov. 11, at the school with a breakfast for area veterans from 7:45 to 8:15 a.m.

The program will begin at 8:30. The Veterans Day parade in Norton is at 2 p.m., and the Long Island Post will meet at the Long Island Community Center at 1 p.m. to get the decorations and travel as a group.

Any Long Island veteran who wants to ride along or bring their car is welcome.

The post has a coloring book project ready. The books have been delivered and students K through 4 may choose a page and color it. A three person group will meet in the morning of Nov. 11 and judge them.

There will be one winner from each grade. A DVD depicting the history of the American Legion has been ordered. With no further business, the meeting adjourned.

LONG ISLAND UNITED METHODIST WOMEN

President Connie Cox opened the meeting by leading the group in reciting the United Methodist Women Purpose.

She read an article by Tim McCrary titled "Offerings Do Make a Difference" from the Kansas West Conference paper.

He used examples of the Mexican-American ministries and Haiti as some places that the local unit's money goes and urged us to contribute to Hunger Sunday Nov. 7.

Cox said the new date books are here, and thanked the United Methodist Women who have helped with the Kids Club.

Some of the Children's Bibles have been distributed to those who didn't have one. Nine women answered roll call. The minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report were given and approved.

Connie Sue Cox reported she received the certificate recognizing Long Island as a 5 Star Unit, and has ordered the Special Recognition Pin for our next Woman of the Year.

For the month of November the hanging of the greens will be in the evening Nov. 28.

The United Methodist Women November committee will serve dinner to the helpers at 5 p.m. before decorating begins.

Our next meeting is Dec. 1, and we will have our gift exchange and reveal the prayer sisters. There was no old business.

The slate of new officers was not ready for presentation.

The unit's Christmas donations and pledge will be discussed at the December meeting.

After the business meeting, Connie Sue Cox gave the World Thank Offering lesson taken from Mark.

It concerned the woman's expensive gift of nard to Jesus and tried to tie in an illegal immigrant woman's perspective.

She then gave the unit an opportunity to discuss the lesson and reminded them that it was not the cost of the nard but the intention in the heart of the giver.

Jesus calls each of us to be generous in whatever way we can. Our gift may be monetary but it can also be time, service or prayer. Shirley Tubbs and Patricia Hammond served refreshments.

LONG ISLAND UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Michelle Tharman welcomed the congregation with the announcements, call to Worship and opening prayer.

She also presented Pastor Dean Gilbert with the notes collected from his parishioners during the October Pastor Appreciation month.

The sermon was based on Luke 20: 27-39 when Jesus confounded the Sadducees with his answer on marriage in heaven.

We were blessed to have Beth Ponstein as our guest pianist.

A fellowship dinner was held after the service, followed by a business meeting

LYLE NEWS

BY VEDA WOODS

Three witches showed up at the educational building Wednesday where the Chatty Hatters entertained at a Halloween party, along with a witch doctor and other interesting characters.

They had a good time 'bowling,' doing word puzzles and playing Pictionary, led by Rhetta Hare and Bee Nelson.

After the winners chose their gifts, everyone was treated to some scrumptious cake.

On Friday, Virgil and Joyce Price and Veda Wood were guests of Norton's west newspapers. (The Oberlin Herald to us) at the Land-Mark Inn of Oberlin.

We ate a delicious lunch and visited with other contributors from the area.

Aubrey and I found a new use for the Siberian Husky, instead of a sled dog.

As there is no snow, we hitched her to the little red wagon.

Well, I admit, I did most of the pulling, but the rider enjoyed it. Hopefully it won't become a habit.

Many Lyle and ex-Lyle people attended the pie and soup supper at the Norcaur United Methodist Church Bazaar Saturday evening and enjoyed the sale of beautiful quilts, homemade articles, and pies.

We know that many hours go into the production of the articles sold, and appreciate all their time and effort.

Kathy Van Meter and Lloyd Frandsen left early enough to see the Jackson family entertain at the Gateway in Oberlin.

June Jolly brought her granddaughter, Megan, to her farm and they canned beef on Saturday. Nothing beats home-canned beef.

Judy and Charlie Easton came to visit Toots' Magers on Sunday, and did some jobs for her.

Disaster assistance program deadline near

The deadlines for the United States Department of Agriculture, Farm Service Agency to accept applications under the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program for this year's crops have been established by the Kansas State Farm Service Agency Committee. The December 1 date applies to the following crops: grasses, alfalfa, oats, apricots, asparagus, blueberries, blackberries and raspberries, cherries, clover, grapes, lespedeza, honey, mixed forage, nectarines, peaches, plums, strawberries, and vetch.

Crops eligible are those not insurable in the county and are produced for food or fiber. Included as eligible crops are floricultural, ornamental nursery, Christmas trees, turf grass sod, industrial crops, seed crops, aquaculture including ornamental fish, and forage crops for livestock mechanically harvested or grazed.

Interested producers must visit their local Farm Service Agency office to complete an application for coverage and pay the applicable service fee by the closing date for the specific crop. Administrative service fees are collected in order to help offset the cost of implementing the program.
