BITUARIES Elwood L. Thomson March 4, 1943 - February 4, 2011

Elwood LeRoy Thomson, son of James and Lucille (Jurey) Thomson, was born March 4, 1943, and died at the Norton County Hospital in Norton, on Feb. 4, at the age of 67.

Elwood attended school at Clayton and Jennings. On April 2, 1969, he married Susan Quenzer in Norton, and to this union three children, Troy, Rachelle, and James, were born. They made their home in Norton where he drove a truck for Peak Transport in Phillipsburg, and later worked as a laborer for Burlington-Northern Railroad out of McCook, Neb. He retired from the railroad in early 2000.

Survivors include: his wife, Susan, of their home in Norton; three children, Troy, and wife, Chriselle Thomson, Norton; Rachelle, and husband, Jason Glendening, Phillipsburg; James, and wife, Kacy Thomson, Wray, Colo.; nine grandchildren, Brett, Alyssa, and Caren Thomson, Madalyn and Claudia Nelson, Jaxon Glendening, Jonathan, Christian, and Riley Thomson; one half-brother, Terry, and wife, Sharon Smothers, Norton; one half-sister, Melissa, and husband Jerry Chambers, Oberlin; other relatives and friends.

Elwood was preceded in death by his parents, James Thomson and Lucille Thomson Smothers and one grandson, Lucas Nelson.

Funeral services were held Monday at Enfield Funeral Home, Norton. Burial was in Norton Cemetery. Memorial to go to the Elwood Thomson Memorial Fund.

Arrangements were by Enfield Funeral Home of Norton.

Wilma Halderman April 28, 1925 - February 3, 2011

Wilma (Navis) Halderman, daughter of Garrett "G.T." and Joanna Wilamena "Minnie" (Simmenlink) Navis, was born April 28, 1925, in Long Island and died Feb. 3, in Syracuse, N.Y, at the age of 85.

Wilma was one of eight children. She graduated from the 8th grade from District 81 in Furnas County, Neb. and later earned her GED on May 2, 1977, from Colby Community College. On Aug.16, 1964, Wilma and Cecil R. Halderman were united in marriage in Norton. Together they made their home in Salina, then Norton, Holdrege, Neb. and later Fort Edward, N.Y.

Wilma worked in the nursing profession all her life. She served in hospitals and nursing homes in Salina, Norton, Almena, and Holdrege. She loved pediatrics and working in the nursery. She held many nursing certificates and worked as an LPN with a waiver.

Wilma was a long time member of the First Baptist Church of Holdrege, the First Baptist Church of Hudson Falls, N. Y., and Village Baptist Church of Fort Edward. She participated in many activities in the church and especially enjoyed helping to take care of her grandchildren during the services. Cecil and Wilma taught the Junior High Sunday School together. Wilma was a woman of deep faith and she loved the Lord. She read her Bible and prayed always. She loved to sew, quilt, and crochet. She appreciated nature and enjoyed setting out and filling her bird feeders, fishing, traveling, and going on outings with her family. The love and joy of her life was spending time with her three grandchildren enjoying picnics and time spent indoors and outdoors doing many activities together. She especially enjoyed traveling to Maine on vacation to the "Red House."

Survivors include: her daughter, Ila, and husband, Scott Smith, Harrisville, N.Y.; three grandchildren, Adam, Kayla, and Elizabeth; several nieces and nephews; other relatives and friends.

Wilma was preceded in death by her parents, her husband, Cecil, four children in infancy, seven siblings, Delia, Jennie, Edward, Art, Clarence "Jim," Dena, and Alice; her foster parents, Mildred and Ernest Mayo, and her foster brother, Verle Mayo.

Graveside services will be Friday, at 10:30 a.m.at Long Island Cemetery in Long Island. A memorial has been established to Wilma Halderman Memorial Fund. Friends may call at the Enfield Funeral Home, 215 W. Main,

10:30 a.m., at the United Method-field Funeral Home in Norton.

Arrangements are with the En-ist Church in Norcatur.

Devil is in angel food cake

One of my readers delights in the Cook's Corner Culinary Catastrophe Hall of Flame stories and reminds me when a column hasn't appeared for awhile. Perhaps each of us is secretly pleased to know that we do not brave the wilds of the cooking world in lonely isolation. There truly are other cooks to whom pastry is a mystery, those who have never mastered the knack of kneading, not a few to whom a successful supper is a surprise to the cook as well as to her long-suffering family. This sisterhood, known far and wide as The Little Sisters of Kitchen Desperation, includes my friend Barbara. The following is her entry in the 2011 Hall of Flame competition.

ON THE WINGS OF AN AN-GEL..OR NOT

Being raised by a mother who didn't cook and being married to a Baptist minister who grossed $35 on a good week puts quite a burden on a new bride. If Barbara could afford to buy anything to cook, she didn't know what to do with it. She struggled and burned, served up Shoeleather Steak, scorched many a pudding and and cooking. Morning flew by working on the salad and on boiling, boning and dicing chicken. Wisely, she dedicated the entire afternoon to the cake. Recipe at the ready, she set the eggs out to warm to room temperature as directed, measured and triple sifted, preheated the oven, readied the pan. Separating eggs turned out to be a bit more challenging than expected but she finally achieved the requisite dozen egg whites. Lacking an electric mixer, she took her lattice whisk in hand and began to whip. And whip. And whip. And whip some more until at last the result looked somewhat like the picture in her cookbook. Flour folded gently in, pan cautiously filled and slipped into and later delicately lifted out of the oven, cooled on a bottle neck and . . . miracle of miracles, a perfectly beautiful angel food cake emerged! Flushed with success as well as oven heat, she put together a fluffy frosting to complete her angelic creation.

Pretty as a picture, the cake, on Luncheon looming on the next a wedding gift cake plate, was fit day's horizon, Barbara spent to display on the buffet in the din-the day ahead of time cleaning ing room. She was proceeding to move it there just as her husband came through the front door. In only one fleeting moment of inattention, her toe caught on the doorsill, balance was lost, and the world's loveliest cake took flight, landing splat upside down on the floor. Barbara shrieked "Damnation!" collapsed on the floor and burst into tears. Her preacher husband hurried to sit down and hug her. "Well, honey,"he said, "that's the first sign I've seen that you're just a sinner like the rest of us." He swiped up a handful of ruined cake, ate a few bites, licked frosting off his fingers and said, "Purty good cake, Barb. I believe we'd better make another one." And they did, finishing it around midnight.

> EPILOGUE: Deacons and elders alike decided the new preacher's wife put out a pretty good lunch next day. They raved about her wonderfully light angel food cake and if they wondered why the preacher winked at his relieved wife, they never asked. Which only goes to prove, once again, that with God all things are possible.
