DIRECTOR, MEDICAL ECONOMICS

A Trusted Company... An Outstanding Employer.

Director, Medical Economics

Do you have experience in Health Care Management, particularly with the financial aspects of health care delivery or insurance? Do you have a background working with providers? Are you familiar with the competitive nature of the provider markets in the state of Kansas and the dynamics that influence the market place?

If so, please read on and consider this key Senior Management position with the state's largest, most trusted and recognized health insurer in Kansas.

This position is responsible for recommending and setting maximum allowable payments for claims, overseeing the data analytics process designed to turn data into actionable information, and for activities associated with audit of claims for correct pricing. In addition, the position will be responsible for establishing the philosophy, goals and objectives of the Medical Economics Department.

Areas of responsibility include Reimbursement Programs, Provider Records, Correct Pricing and Audit, Membership and Group Reporting, Health Informatics, Kansas Health Data System and EDI Services.

Qualifications

Education: Bachelor of Science degree with emphasis in Accounting-Business Administration, Healthcare Financing, Management or Economics. Advanced education in business management and communication skills preferred. Educated and/or trained in provider billing and coding medical procedures. Educated and/or trained in computer programming functions and knowledgeable of database analysis tools.

Experience: Minimum of 10 years Blue Plan or similar health care management experience with record of increasing responsibilities. General understanding of health care finance models related to trends being a function of the cost and use of health care services. Strong working knowledge of health care providers, their business models and market place, and their provider licensing boards. Minimum of 10 years experience with health care charge and reimbursement systems, including electronic transmittal of health care claims and all relevant data. Expert knowledge of provider charging methods and traditional third party reimbursement, as well as a strong understanding of provider policies and procedures, regulations, business procedures, professional procedure code and nomenclature. A broad knowledge of medical, dental and chiropractic terminology, professional protocol, medical economics, and business practices and procedures of professional and institutional providers are preferred.
