

Proclaiming the future

To help kick off the annual festivities, Norton Mayor David Corns recently signed a proclamation declaring Feb. 18-25 as FFA Week to go along with National FFA week, which runs during the same days. The proclamation acknowledges the importance of agricultural education and the importance of celebrating the future of agriculture. Pictured, Norton Community High School FFA President Robert Blecha watches while Mayor Corns signs the proclamation.

JENNINGS NEWS

A large crowd attended the soup and dessert lunch served Sunday Feb. 19, at the Community Hall. Free will donation went to the Historic Building Preservation Committee for improvements on the former Masonic Hall. At 2 p.m. a city community meeting was held. Approximately 35 people attended the informational meeting. Marge Hartzog, mayor, presided over the meeting. Accomplishments of the city in the year 2011 were reported. The recent water leak which was under the highway and moving meters outside of homes were discussed. A spring clean-up date was tentatively set for the second Friday of April. A discussion was held about empty houses which could be fixed up for rent or for sale. If we could have a list in the city office? We are fortunate in our community as everyone works together when needed.

Stan and Ramona Shaw spent the weekend at the home of Chris Gillespie and Tom Neff in Marion.

Helen Rhodes is home from the hospital and doing well. Sunflower Senior carry-in potluck noon meal on Feb. 14 was enjoyed by 14 seniors. A Valentine exchange was held. The door prizes were drawn by Rachel Carter, Linda Spreser, Agnes Wahlmeier and Kenny Krizek. A business meeting was held following the meal. Several people then stayed to play cards. On Wednesday, Feb. 15 cards were played at the Center. Those playing were: Stan and Ramona Shaw; Scott Taylor, Eleanor Morel, Diane Carter, Allice Wagoner, Wayne and Louise Cressler.
