

You are among the "best" of the "very best" BB Gun marksmen in the entire United States of America!

This photo of one area on the large range in the national shoot shows the young marksmen competing on the firing line in the background, the next shooters and assistant coaches waiting for the conclusion of this round and, in the foreground, additional BB guns and equipment belonging to the various teams.

Norton head coach Cameron Archer gets a good view of Colton Mulder's marksmanship from the kneeling position. He recorded a 90 from what is considered to be the second toughest firing position behind standing.

The Barter Bar was another memorable event during which everyone enjoyed trading souvenirs and visiting about their state's positive features. Above, Norton's Valerie Elliott, Jeff Elliott and Stacie Elliott visit with some potential traders.

Congratulations to our National BB Gun Team
