Apply now for garden grants

It is the season to begin thinking about fall garden cleanup; it is also time to apply for a 2013 Kansas Community Gardens Project Grant.

The goal is to provide seed money (up to $5,000) for Kansas community gardens to raise public awareness about community gardens and the benefits they offer to a community and its residents.

Gardening provides health-promoting physical activity, and the grant funding also is intended to unite diverse community groups in teaching and learning gardening skills, and to encourage collaboration on sustainable strategies to improve access to fresh, local foods.

First-year grant recipients used the funding to make capital improvements such as building a tool shed, and to cover big ticket items from installing irrigation equipment or a water line to building raised beds, adding fencing, or improving the soil to increase a garden's staying power and sustainability.

Kansas communities are encouraged to apply; grant specifics and applications are available at www.kansascommunitygardens.org.

Grant applications must be completed and postmarked by Jan. 15 to be considered for funding.

More information on the Kansas Community Gardens Project Grant opportunity also is available at K-State Research and Extension offices throughout the state.

More information about The Kansas Health Foundation, a private philanthropy dedicated to improving the health of all Kansans, is available at www.kansashealth.org.

Tree planting set for Oct. 9 in Hays

The Kansas State University Agricultural Research Center in Hays will host a tree planting demonstration Tuesday, Oct. 9 at 6:30 p.m.

The event, to be held at the research center located at 1232 240th Ave. in Hays, will highlight the Tree-Line Planting program, which focuses on trees recommended for growing in utility line areas. Ten varieties of crab apple trees will be planted during the demonstration.

K-State Research and Extension horticulture agent Holly Dickman and Kansas Forestry Service forester Jim Strine will show proper tree planting techniques.

More information about the tree planting demonstration is available by calling Joe Becker at 785-625-3425 Ext 222.

HaysMed to host mental health program

HaysMed will present the program Mental Health First Aid on Oct. 30 and 31. The program will be held at the HaysMed, Hadley Conference Room #2. The presentations will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day with registration beginning at 8:30 a.m. on day one. You must attend both days to obtain the continuing education credit.

Kenneth E. Loos, MS, LMLP, LCP, Manager, Community Prevention, Education & Outreach MHFA, Instructor, High Plains Mental Health, Hays, Kansas.

The program is designed for RNs, LPS, ARNPs, Respiratory Therapists, Social Workers, PTs, OTs and other interested healthcare professionals.

The fee for the program is $50 and CAHs are $25. There is no fee for HaysMed and Pawnee Valley Community Hospital Associates.

Twelve hours of continuing education credit are available for CNE credit. The Hays Medical Center Respiratory Care Continuing Education Evaluator on behalf of the Kansas State Board of Healing Arts has approved this program for 12.0 CRCE hours.

To register go to www.haysmed.com/education or call 1800-248-0073 Ext 5500 or email debbie.mcclaren@haysmed.com.

Protect against Scours for an additional 2¢ a day

- per head per day (200 lb. tub) -

The goal is to utilize as much forage as possible. Due to the drought conditions, protein and energy will be higher in stalks this year. The Availa 4 mineral packages are a great asset to the tubs in these dry conditions. If your wondering how your neighbors cattle are so shiny, he's probably feeding an MLS tub.

We can also help you with Distillers Grain, Chemical, Cattle Ration Work. If you have Grain to buy we would love the opportunity to put some Money in your pocket.
