Warren Byrum is behind Dean and then there is Nora Washburn, Alvin Smith with his back to the camera talking to activity director Darlene McEwen and then Doris Fletcher holds her line waiting to feel any change of tension on her line.

Andbe home residents enjoy a day fishing

One seventeen inch wiper made eleven residents happy when it swam past a hook and got caught on the recent fishing trip to the lake. It had been called to the attention of staff by those "real" fishermen from the Norton Lake that in order to catch a fish, people need to be there before June 12. Alas, Andbe Home Fishing Trip happened on June 7! Thanks to Warren Byrum, CNA, who chummed the water just to the north of the boat dock and provided shade, bait, poles and the know-how! Charles Eberle was the lucky fisherman who reeled in the big wiper! Doris Fletcher proved her expertise of long time fishing by the way she held her line even though the pole was in a holder! Esther Tweed, Bert Benham and Nora Washburn were the typical "lady" fishing participants who visited, noticed the pretty boats coming and going from the dock and added the cheering when the fish was caught! Alvin Smith, Anita Wyatt and Leta Donovan tried so hard to catch one but came up short again. "I am not sure, but those fish must know it is my line out there!" Anita said. Don Hays was the first to get a pole in the water and worked at catching one. Dean Jamison didn't bother to drown any bait but was one who enjoyed the nature of the day. Hamburgers were cooked by Duane McEwen over a wood fire and the taste was mighty fine! Staff accompanying the group were Raquel Nairn, Tasha Gordon and Darlene McEwen. There were dietary staff, nursing staff and administration that all helped make it possible!

County to get leftovers to use locally

By CYNTHIA HAYNES

Norton County will get some more road material but will have to stockpile it for a while

At Monday's meeting of the Norton County Commissioners, Road and Bridge Foreman Floyd Richard told the commissioners that Venture Corporation is offering the county 150 tons of chunky asphalt, 400 to 500 tons of sand and rock and 1,500 tons of millings. The asphalt and sand and rock are free to the county for the cost of moving it away, Mr. Richard said. The millings will cost $8 a ton or $12,000.

"I think we ought to get the millings," Commissioner Charles Posson said. Mr. Richard said that there was money in the road and bridge budget for road materials and the county would get the sand, rock and asphalt for free.

Venture will load the material, he said, and the county has to move it.

"I say go for it," Mr. Posson said. "I agree," said Commissioner R.A. Peterson. "Take it all."

County Clerk Robert Wyatt warned the commissioners that they will have to stockpile the material for now but said that the county has places where that can be done.

The commissioners also discussed Road L, where it was decided that the difference in price between concrete and asphalt was so little that the county will go with the concrete because it has a better lifespan.

The road will be 22-foot wide, the commissioners observed with curb and gutter only in front of the sale barn to help with drainage.

In other business, the commissioners:

- Hired Emergency Management Director Justina Smith as the temporary Road and Bridge Department Office Manager to replace Sandy Smith, who is retiring at the end of the month. Miss Smith will take over on Monday.

- Decided to take applications for the job of Road and Bridge office manager. Miss Smith will continue to act as the county's emergency management director but will just be on-call while she is doing the road and bridge job also.

Norton woman criminal case to be held over

The sentencing hearing for Norton resident Samantha Rojas has been waived until Monday at 3 p.m. in District Court. The delay in sentencing is due to a disagreement by both parties as to what restitution should be.

Rojas plead guilty to forgery and five counts of theft on May 13. The forgery conviction is a level eight felony and the five counts of theft are Class A misdemeanors.

Rojas was on supervised probation when these crimes were committed, according to Norton County Attorney Doug Sebelius.
