

Correctional employees recognized

Uniformed: Andrew Munk
Andrew began his career with Norton Correctional Facility in February 2011 as a Corrections Officer. Andrew has worked many different posts and is currently assigned to the Special Security Team.

willing to work overtime when we are short staff and is very dependable. He is self-motivated and works well independently. While on limited duty, he was tasked with many different recruitment projects. He took this very seriously and did an exceptional job at the tasks given to him. He attended job fairs; put together a presentation which he presented to several different Criminal Justice classes at various colleges. He assisted in putting together a movie advertisement by taking pictures and in doing so took updated pictures of the Norton and Stockton facilities. These pictures will also be used in different areas. It is evident, in all of his work, that he takes pride and ownership in all assigned tasks.

Non-Uniformed: Ann Went
Ann began her career with Norton Correctional Facility in October 2002 as an Office Assistant in the Mail Room. She was promoted to Administrative Assistant in September 2007 and moved over to the Powerhouse. She has worked in the Business Office and is currently assigned in the Mail Room.

is dedicated to getting the job done right. Given her work in other areas of the facility she has a good working knowledge of how NCF runs. During some of the slower times in the mail room she has offered to assist in the Warden and the Policy, Procedure, and Compliance Offices. She is dependable, timely in accomplishing tasks, and rarely misses work. She is capable of running the mail room by herself when the other assistant is away from the facility.

Contract: Debra Summers
Deb began her career with Norton Correctional Facility in March 2013. She works for Correct Care Solutions as a Registered Nurse.

ties. Deb has an excellent attitude and doesn't just go through the motions. She interacts well with the patients and staff and places their concerns first. Deb has proven she is more than capable in handling emergency situations and patient care is always at the top of her agenda. She has brought fresh ideas to the clinic and supervisors are proud and honored to have her as part of their team.

Employees honored at governor's residence

Andrew Munk, Ann Went and Debra Summers were honored November 6, 2013 at a reception at Cedar Crest, the governor's residence, for having been named employees of the third quarter at the Norton Correctional Facility (NCF).
"The effort to ensure public safety and the effort to help offenders turn their lives around go hand in hand," said Governor Sam Brownback. "We wish to express our appreciation for the important work of our corrections employees in the state of Kansas."

Munk, Went and Summers and 29 other employees of the Kansas Department of Corrections were honored by the governor and by Corrections Deputy Secretary Johnnie Goddard at the ceremony. The event was the second such statewide Employee of the Quarter ceremony, recently initiated by Brownback.

Munk, a corrections officer, was named NCF Uniformed Employee of the Quarter. Went, an administrative assistant, was selected NCF Non-uniformed Employee of the Quarter. Summers, a registered nurse, was honored as the facility's Contract Employee of the Quarter.
