

OBITUARIES

Donald G. Schneider

Oct. 24, 1929 - Jan. 19, 2014

(Dale) Pfannenstiel of WaKeeney; brother, David of Hays; niece, Marsha (Richard) Haines of Stockton; four grandchildren, Sam Schneider of Kansas City, Abraham, Tate and Gracie Pfannenstiel of WaKeeney; two step-grandchildren, Blake Hamilton and Jena (David) Stunkel; and one step-great-granddaughter, Lola Stunkel.

Don is preceded in death by his parents, Abraham and Ethel and his children's mother, LaDonna Schneider.

Don was a good man, with a good heart, who lived life the best he knew how. May his memory encourage us as we remember his life in its totality, and the day of judging him on anything less than his entire life comes to a close. The words of the prophet Samuel remind us, "For man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh upon the heart."

Warm up with soups in winter

Warm Up With Soups!

What's better on a cold winter day than a warm bowl of soup? Soup can be nutritious, easy to prepare, and inexpensive. It can be great hot or cold, prepared with minimal clean-up, only needs one pot, and the combination of ingredients is unlimited. Soup is a great dish for a variety of palettes and can be tailored to be spicy, savory, or sweet. January is National Soup Month, a good time to think about how soup can fit into a healthy eating plan. Follow these helpful tips for making soup delicious and nutritious.

Tips for Delicious and Nutritious Soup:

Be sodium savvy. To keep soups tasty and healthy, use low-sodium broth, stock, or soup base for the foundation. Experiment with flavorful herbs and spices in place of salt. The most effective replacements are savory flavors, and flavors with "bite," such as black pepper, garlic powder, curry powder, cumin, dill seeds, basil, ginger, coriander and onion. Use minced or powdered garlic and onion rather than their salty form. When substituting minced or powdered garlic and onion for the salty version, use about half as much.

Make healthier choices with Nutrition Facts Labels. When buying canned soups, use the Nutrition Facts Label to help choose products with a lower percent Daily Value (DV) for sodium. Foods with less than 140 milligrams (mg) sodium per serving can be labeled as low-sodium foods. Claims such as "low in sodium: or "very low in sodium" on the front of the food label can help identify foods that contain less salt.

Choose healthier substitutions. Soup can be a healthy, inexpensive meal. Keep soups lower in fat and calories by using ingredients like cheese, sour cream, or bacon sparingly as a topping or garnish. Or choose healthier substitutes like reduced-fat shredded cheese, low-fat sour cream, non-fat plain yogurt, or turkey bacon. Substitute a whole-grain product for a refined product in soups and stews such as using whole-wheat noodles, barley, or brown rice.

Cook once, eat twice. Homemade soups can be made ahead of time and in large quantities. Eat refrigerated soup within three to four days or freeze it. Don't let soup sit at room temperature for more than two hours. To speed cooling, store soups in shallow containers. When serving a second time, bring to a boil.

During National Soup Month and beyond, experiment with different recipes and ingredient substitutions for healthier soups. Find ways to vary your veggies with warm soups in the colder months and focus on fruits with chilled soups in the warmer months.
