LYLE NEWS

By Veda Wood

Joyce Sumner's granddaughter, Mandy Davidson and her children, Spencer and Shelby visited her and they had a good time making music. They are the ones who play for us at the Lyle fall program. It's so good to have the young ones take part.

Jim and Carolyn Plotts made it home from their trip to Mexico, very tired but glad that they had helped make another family happy. As the next Sunday was a 'fifth Sunday of the month', we usually have Charles Keller fill in as minister, but Charles told Toots Magers they would be moving and couldn't be there that day, so Jim consented to take his place. Toots' daughters were her visitors on Sunday. She asked me if I still had last Monday's Salina paper, as there was an obituary of her granddaughter's friend, Carly, in Abilene. I did, as I toss them into a container until recycling day.

June Jolly has finished the quilt she had been working on and is ready to begin another one. The last one was for great grandson, Austin, who will be starting college in the fall. Twila Carter, another grandmother of Austin's, is to have hip replacement on Wednesday. We wish her fast healing. June has a cough but no cold and says she doesn't feel bad. She still feels well enough to play cards, have club, and go to a garage sale. She doesn't have to catch a cold, it has to catch her!

We had some very nice weather last week, and then it turned cold again. We had some snow, maybe an inch, and north a few miles where Kathy Van Meter lives, they had another good snow. I know, everyone is tired of snow, but in farming country, we need all we can get.

Oh yes, before I forget, I made two eggs stand on end again. I try it every Solstice, and it usually happens. Actually, I don't think I do it, it is one of God's laws of nature.

Message to the month of March: You have your orders mixed up--you are supposed to be going out like a lamb, not a lion! What a wind we are hav-

June Jolly is starting a new quilt. She went to the track meet in McCook and watched her great grandchildren run. Taylor Blume took third and her brother Austin's relay team took first.

June had a phone call that had her thinking she was being scammed, but it turned out differently. The man on the other end was talking about Apple, lost phone, and they had called 'Mom' listed on the cell phone. She thought her son, Carroll, in Omaha, Neb. was the only one who had her listed as Mom, so she called him and asked if he had lost his cell phone. Talk about surprised; he probably thought it was true about Moms having eyes in the back of their head, etc.. Sure enough, he could call his number and come retrieve the lost phone. June's son, Dean Jolly, Mike Baker, and Curtis and Kenny Carter have gone to a lake fishing, she wasn't sure if it was Oklahoma or somewhere else.

Merlin and Teri Wood, in Fort Pierce, Florida, have a few hens. One of them laid a weird egg, which looked more like a big Idaho potato. When they broke it, it was not just a double-yolked egg, as we have seen, but it had a whole egg, shell and all inside.

Kathy VanMeter and Lloyd Frandsen went to Colorado on Friday. They visited Lloyds daughter, Kathy and Bryan Jones, and on Saturday helped Kathy's sister, Margaret Wilson, celebrate her 85th birthday. She saw friends she had not seen in a long time. They visited Lloyds granddaughter, Christine Houghtelling Glenn and came home Sunday.

Toots Magers' visitors on Sunday were Judy and Charlie Easton and Don and Shanna Nitzel from Beaver City, Neb.

Visitors at the Wood home this week have been Dee Magers. Carol Moye, Adrienne Vapura, Kylie and Skylar Friday evening and Fred Molzahn.

Skylar, four, told her mother, "My heart is not beeping", but she was assured it was.
