Jeff Neilsen conducted the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Steve and Gloria Cole, Norton, and John and Sharie Ragland, Minneapolis. Grandparents are Velda Brewster, Norton; Melvin Zuker, Minneapolis; and Lee and Frances Ragland, Hodgenville, Ky.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of matte satin with a bateau neckline. It was accented with a beaded overlay and seed pearls outlined the bodice in the back. The back was accented with beaded lace straps. An A-line skirt flowed into a semi-cathedral train and was decorated with a band of beaded lace.

Shannon Kats, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Julie Otten, friend of the bride and Shelley Allred, cousin of the bride. Honorary bridesmaid was Troylin Frye, friend of the bride. They wore tea-length cotton dresses in turquoise and black. They carried bouquets of sunflowers, daisies and blue and burgundy flowers. Flower girl was Ryann Kats, niece of the bride. She wore a two-piece dress that matched the bride's attendants. She carried a basket of flowers.

The groom wore a white western shirt with black jeans, black boots, black vest and a bolo tie.

James Wright, friend of the groom, served as best man with Ronny Robins and Brian Levendofsky, friends of the groom, as groomsmen. Ring bearer was Regan Kats, nephew of the bride. The men of the wedding party were all attired in turquoise western shirts with blue and burgundy flowers accented with jute rope.

Ushers were Michael Kats, brother-in-law of the bride, Johnny Ankenman and Joe Henry, friends of the bride, and Jeffrey Crawford and Chris Zuker, cousins of the groom. They wore burgundy shirts and black jeans.

Candle lighters were Katie Crawford, cousin of the groom and Michael Kats, brother-in-law of the bride. Miss Crawford wore a burgundy dress identical to the bride's attendants.

The altar was decorated in a western theme with wagon wheels, split rail fencing, lariat ropes and cowboy hats. The candelabras were made from horse shoes draped with sunflower garland. The unity table held a special candle made by Bill Belt, friend of the bride. Sunflowers, daisies and blue and burgundy flowers were in candle rings around the candles on the table. A bouquet of roses was placed on the unity table in memory of the couple's deceased grandparents, Wilbert Brewster, Jewett and Rosalie Cole and Erma Jeanne Zuker and Mr. Ragland's brother, Justin Ragland.
