By VELMA HOLTZE

On Friday, Laurie Laws picked up grandson Austin Anderson in Elwood and brought him home for a visit. They watched some of their favorite movies on Friday evening. On Saturday afternoon Austin went to his grandparents Ron and Delores Anderson for a sleep-over visit.

A visitor to the Joe and Alice Kasson home is Gregg Kasson of Henderson, Nev. Gregg is here for a two-week visit. They all journeyed to Almena to attend church at Kirk Kasson's church. The group enjoyed dinner following services.

Irene Neumann of McCook visited at the Avis Wolfe home Sunday afternoon.

A telephone call from Pastor Doris Harlan of Sidney on Saturday asks that greetings be conveyed to all those who remember her. She realizes that many are gone and new faces have taken their place since she served the Baptist-Christian Church in the late 80s and early 90s. She continues to volunteer at the Hospital gift shop, though it continues to get harder to walk.

Bill Weaver of Beaver City was the lay speaker at the Baptist-Christian worship service Sunday morning. His wife, Candace, was celebrating her birthday that day so the congregation enjoyed singing "Happy Birthday" to her.

Kendall and Virginia Rice and Charley and Dorothy Ankenman attended The Advocates and the Legacy Five, men's quartet singing gospel music at the Tassel in Holdrege on Sunday evening.

Bart and Sherry Anderson and family of Loomis, Neb., spent part of the weekend with her parents, Kendall and Virginia Rice. Mr. Anderson was doing some hunting along with a friend, Scott Kritzer and son, Brendon of Holdrege. They and the Steve Rice family and a friend from Texas were Sunday dinner guests in the K. Rice home.

The Baptist-Christian Church is holding their annual Thanksgiving "Harvest" Worship service at 10:30 a.m., Sunday. A co-operative dinner will follow with the traditional turkey and dressing and other goodies. This is your invitation to join in Thanksgiving and fellowship. Jeff Bell from Holdrege will be the morning speaker.

Visitors

This past week Delbert and Laurie Laws had her sister, Gina Kuwamura, from Colorado stay from Monday to Friday morning. Mrs. Kuwamura came for sewing machine lessons from Mrs. Laws. At one point the Laws home was humming with dueling sewing machines. Mrs. Kuwamura was able to attend the Wilsonville Women's Club and the I Help Others Club meeting with her sister.

Wilsonville Women's Club

On Nov. 10, the Wilsonville Women's Club met at the Baptist-Christian Church. Hostesses for the evening were Connie Wilson and Laurie Laws. The ladies decorated the basement with a Thanksgiving theme. Fourteen members and one guest enjoyed a laughter-filled evening and a wonderful program by Kathy Troser on genealogy. Nadeane Haag and Margaret Spence read four birthday limericks. A birthday song was sang to celebrate Adeline Ballou, Lelia Lang, Carolyn Park and Margaret Spence birthdays. After the program everyone enjoyed a delicious luncheon.

Library News

This past week Librarian Laurie Laws received the gift of a United States Flag from the Veterans of Foreign Wars No. 7719 of Lebanon, Neb. The Library's old flag was in bad repair and the new flag is greatly appreciated.

Aunt Lulu's Sewing Group

The Aunt Lulu's Sewing Group met on Nov. 10. Carla Holtze showed a beautiful star quilt she is preparing to quilt. Sue Bethel and Carla Holtze shared with the ladies in attendance that they had been to a new quilt shop in Oberlin. It was decided that the ladies would have a "Girls Day Out" on Nov. 14 to see the new quilt store.

Girls Day Out

Eight "Girls" of the Aunt Lulu's Sewing Group traveled to Oberlin in two cars Friday morning. The first stop was the new quilt shop. The ladies enjoyed meeting the proprietor, Norma, and getting lots of new and wonderful ideas. They next traveled to main street where they enjoyed looking at fabrics and antiques. After working up an appetite the ladies adjourned for lunch at the LandMark Inn for a fantastic luncheon and visit. Several of the ladies who hadn't been upstairs in the restored rooms were treated to a tour. More shopping followed the meal.

I.H.O. Club Hears the Rest of the Story

June Palmer hosted the I Help Others Club at her home on Wednesday afternoon. Eight members answered roll call by sharing a thought and climaxing it with, "And the rest of the story is..." which proved to be very interesting. One of the neatest was the Club books dating back to the early 1920s as well as some newspaper clippings of another meeting at Mrs. Palmer's home nearly 50 years ago. Mrs. Palmer also had the devotions and for the program shared memories, scrapbooks, pictures, etc. of their golden wedding which she and her husband celebrated a year ago. She also had some "ticklers" about marriage. During the business meeting the same officers were retained for another year. Members also chose the month they wanted to be hostess. Mrs. Palmer served refreshments at the close of the afternoon. Each woman was given a picture of the Palmers taken at their golden wedding.

Cambridge Girls Lose to Ravenna

Though many people from this area drove to Lincoln Friday morning to watch the Cambridge volleyball girls play their first game in the state playoffs, they could return that evening, as the girls could not outplay Ravenna. However, some did stay for the Nebraska football game Saturday and the party for Ryan Ommert, a senior on the Nebraska team. His parents, Larry and Carol Ommert, hosted this party. Others returned by way of Lawrence to watch the Cambridge boys play another game as they anticipated a trip to state. Even for those listening on the radio at home, the game was quite exciting, especially the last two minutes. Cambridge was victorious so will play in Lincoln this Friday.
