Cheyenne County Courthouse handicap drive may be extended said he had been told that the handicap drive on the west side of the courthouse needed improvement. The commissioners, at their Feb. 15 meeting, agreed to see what it would cost to extend and widen the drive.

Commissioner Beikman said older people and/or people with handicaps have trouble getting out because the drive is so narrow that there is not room to get out of the car without stepping on the grass. It is also difficult to back out of the drive.

Funding available

A total of $200,000 is available for funding new technology under Conservation Innovation Grants (CIG), according to Harold L. Klaege, Natural Resources Conservation Service State Conservationist. Through innovation, this grant is an effort to address some of the state's most pressing natural resource conservation needs. Conservation Innovation Grants is a component of the Environmental Ouality Incentives Program (EQIP).

Applications are due in the Kansas Natural Resources Conservation Service state office by April 2.

"These grants offer an opportunity to promote public-private partnerships and support the agency's agenda to provide innovative technologies and approaches to environmental enhancement and protection on working agriculture lands," Mr. Klaege stated.

State, Tribal, and local governmental entities, non-governmental organizations and individuals may apply. Project proposals should demonstrate the use of innovative technologies or approaches to address a natural resource concern. Project results are expected to improve and create the transfer of conservation technologies, management systems, and innovative approaches (such as market-based systems) into Natural Resources Conservation Service technical manuals or guides or to the private sector.

Project proposals will be evaluated with the assistance of the Kansas Technical Committee based on the criteria identified in the announcement of Fiscal Year 2007 program funding.

Selected applicants may receive grants up to 50 percent of the total project cost, not to exceed $50,000. Applicants must provide non-federal matching funds for at least 50 percent of the project cost, of which 50 percent may be from in-kind contributions. Projects may be single or multi-year, not to exceed three years. Additional information, the request for proposals, and related forms are located on the http:// www.ks.nrcs.usda.gov/programs/ cig/index.html and at Grants.gov.

Commissioner Andy Beikman sioners look into the cost of a "drive drive snow removal. thru" with the handicap drive being extended to make a circle drive that would exit on Benton Street. He also suggested that it be made wider.

Those using the handicap drive can enter the courthouse at the basement level and use the elevator to go to the other floors. There are also handicap door entry pads. However, needs to be unlocked and monithe narrow drive discourages people from using it.

will get some measurements and Terry Miller, clerk, will see about getting some bids for the work. Bid deadline will be March 14.

Snow removal

For a number of years, there has been little need for snow removal from county roads. However, this year, there has been weeks of snowy conditions and complaints that the county was not clearing private drives.

Commissioner Beikman had talked to the insurance agent, Roxie Neitzel, who said the county was covered while clearing roads and drives But if there are a lot of claims, the insurance coverage may need to be reviewed.

The commissioners felt that the first removal of snow should be to the roads and that the county crew didn't have time to open private drives. Commissioner Ernie Ketzner said the county crew used to clear drives when needed. They discussed the fact that some country residents had the equipment to clear drives while others had nothing.

Commissioner Ray Lee thought that, if nothing else, if there is an emergency, the county should clear that person's drive. It was agreed that the crew would do this.

Commissioner Beikman said the county has a policy that if there is a business which can remove snow or any other service, the county crew does not interfere.

The matter of snow removal was tabled until after Dave Flemming,

He suggested that the commis- cation about bus routes and private

Records moved

The county's voting machines are required to be kept under lock and key. The machines are currently being stored in the history room in the basement of the courthouse. When someone wants to look at the school and census records, the room tored.

Margaret Bucholtz and Janet Maintenance person Carl Williams Carmen, Cheyenne County Historical Society, said the museum on U.S. 36 had an area where the school and census records could be safely stored. Mrs. Bucholtz said it would be convenient for everyone if they could move the records from the history room to the museum.

> The commissioners thought this would be a good solution for all involved and agreed to the moving of the records.

Noxious weed supervisor report

Dan Schlittenhardt, noxious weed supervisor, had a letter of support for the commissioners to sign. The letter asked that the application for Rozol be extended from March 15 to April 15. Rozol is used in getting rid of prairie dogs.

The commissioners talked about cost sharing for eliminating prairie dogs. Mr. Schlittenhardt said Logan County Commissioners are taking ranchers to court because of their prairie dog problems.

Mr. Schlittenhardt had a bid for a new pickup but, looking at the cost, the commissioners asked that he get another bid so they could compare presented the Community Development Building Grant contracts for signature. The contracts are for the dairy being put near Bird City. One contract was for Northwest Kansas Planning and Development to serve as the grant administrator and the second contract was the State of Kansas Economic Development Grant Agreement (Bird City Dairy Community Development Building Grant). The contracts were signed.

Mr. Hrabe then talked about the work provided by the Northwest Kansas Planning and Development Commission, noting that the commission could possibly help with a grant to purchase a generator for the new 911 emergency system.

• Jannelle Bowers, emergency medical director, has been informed that Medicare wants the write-offs to be referred to as "adjustments." Adjustments of $1,194 were approved.

· Director Bowers said she has had trouble with the one of the ambulances starting even after it had been worked on by Yost Ford-Mercury. She was concerned that the ambulance would be needed for an emergency run and it wouldn't run. The commissioners gave her permission to go to another qualified mechanic.

• Mark Mills, emergency medical technician, has taken the necessary training to recertify emergency medical technicians.

 Commissioners agreed to move forward with the new 911 emergency system. See related article.

 Judge Robert Van Allen had asked for assistance in paying for mileage to Denver and round trip airfare to Reno, Nev., so that he could attend the Judicial College in May. The judge received a scholarship for the college and the Kansas Supreme Court will pay for the conference fee, lodging and meals. The commissioners agreed to pay the mileage and airfare.
