ground.

He said that about 50 percent of the wheat is harvested in that area. Yields are good, he said, however, there is a little insect damage.

Manager Weeks said the protein is "all over the board" ranging from levels of 9 to 13 with the last load going out by rail averaging 12 — good milling quality.

Wheat in the Wheeler area is about 80 percent harvested. North of St. Francis there is still some green in the fields and the irrigated wheat is still in the fields.

The price on Tuesday was averaging around $5.25 but Mr. Burr said, that in a day, it can fluctuate as much as 25- to 30-cents a bushel in a couple of hours. Mr. Weeks said the price started at $5.62.

After seven years of drought and low-to-nothing yields, farmers are happy to have a crop.

"I think this crop is going to be good for the community and there are going to be a lot of smiling farmers," Mr. Burr said.

GARY YONKEY unloads wheat into the semi. Daryl Loyd, on the truck, directs the tractor when to move.

could also be purchased for the appraiser's office. Ernie Ketzner, commissioner, was against the maps for the appraiser's office and the commissioners discussed that they might have computer capability to produce the needed maps.

After Mr. O'Loughlin left, Sheriff Gardner asked for 5 minutes executive session to discuss personnel. When coming out, they talked about hiring Danielle Gardner as part-time clerk providing it was okay with Justin Barrett, county attorney. Mrs. Gardner also works part time in the attorney's office. After discussion, the commissioners approved.

Sheriff Gardner said the state patrol is offering a 911 dispatch class which is free. He would like to send the two dispatchers now employed by the city of St. Francis. The board approved.

like it was yesterday was traveling north toward Haigler on K-27. It was a terrible snow storm and the roads were slick. As he went down a hill, he began to spin.

"I know I went around three times before I hit the brakes which caused me to slide," he said. "The car stopped just before going down into a canyon.

"I have had so many close calls that I'm not sure my guardian angel will ride with me anymore!"

The Sharps live a couple miles north of St. Francis. One day he was washing his pickup and it was time to go to work. He said he dropped the hose and jumped into the truck and headed to town.

"I thought the city cop looked at me kind of funny but I was in a hurry and didn't think much about it," he said.

When he got to the office, he found he was dragging 75-feet of hose behind him and when he came to a stop, it was strung from the pickup, through the alley and out in the street.

Things have changed through the years. His route was 131 miles long when he started and it is now down to 117 miles with around 150 boxes. He noted that there are fewer small farmers and many of his first customers are no longer living.

However, he said the roads are a lot better than they were 30 years ago.

He has been thinking about retiring but, after last winter he decided it was time.

"We have been lucky to have so many mild winters but last year, I was feeding cattle, calving and delivering mail and I decided that was too much to do," he said.

Besides farming and raising cattle, Mr. Sharp plans to enjoy riding his horses and working with wood in his shop.

Postmasters and others

Mr. Sharp said he has worked with many good people through the years including six St. Francis and three Haigler postmasters. He has also had a dependable substitute, Sandy Barnhart, who has worked for 21 years.

St. Francis postmasters included Charlie Timmons, Pat Neal, Cy Pearson, Annette Miller, Steve Schultz and Penny Sheldon; Haigler postmasters were Violet Relph, Rita Stute and present postmaster Betty Sargent.

When he first began at the post office, besides Mr. Winston and Mr. Roelfs, he well remembers Clarence Raile, Lester Confer, Spud Lockard, James Edmondson and Maxine O'Leary.

There have been several retirement parties held but on Friday, people from the Haigler area gathered in the park to give him a farewell party.

"Everyone has been so nice — I'm going to miss them."
