By Karen Krien

Saturday marks the last day of the fair but also a day packed full of fair activities.

The day will start with the parade at 10 a.m. beginning at the east end of St. Francis f Main Street. A separate parade article is printed elsewhere in this issue.

Mud volleyball action begins at noon. Tina and Kirby Elliott are in charge of the games. They reported that the teams are filling fast. The mud volleyball games are held at the two courts just west of the baseball diamond at the fairgrounds. Mrs. Elliott advises that anyone playing should plan to wear protective coverings on their feet as there are sandbars.

At 12:30 the open class pet show will start in the small show arena at the fairgrounds. This show has grown from just a few pets to a large, interesting show. Classes will be formed as the pets are entered.

The home-owned carnival will start the engines at 4 p.m. for the last night of rides for another year. They will shut down at midnight.

The barbecue, prepared and served by the Knights of Columbus members, will start at 4:30 and last until 6 p.m. Barbecued beef sandwiches, plus baked beans, potato chips and iced tea will be served and Western Kansas Farm Credit will have watermelon. The all-you-can-eat meal is a free-will offering but the Knights are suggesting a donation of $5 per person. Proceeds will be used by the Knights for community projects in both Bird City and St. Francis.

The demolition derby and lawnmower tractor pull will start at 7 p.m. in front of the grandstand.

New on the Cheyenne County Fairgrounds this year is the Christian Church Sundae Parlor. Located in the heart of the grounds, it will be serving cool treats.

The Parlor will be serving cones and dishes of vanilla or chocolate or twists (both flavors together).

They will be offering coolers, shakes, floats, sundaes, banana splits, giant cookies and brownie delights. They will also be selling bottled water.

— St. Francis News —

Milton and Betty Lampe attended the wedding of a great-nephew, Justin Kellner and Ashley Snook in Topeka on Saturday, Aug. 2. A dinner and dance followed.

On Sunday, the Lampe's enjoyed a Kellner church service in Silver Lake, Justin and Ashley opening their wedding gifts, a family dinner and celebration of Rev. David and Joyce Erber's 25th wedding anniversary before they return to Africa.

Kirk and Debbie Grizzell of Macksville and Travis Grizzell and Tiffany Dewitt of Hays were also guests at the wedding.

People may come into the building where there is air conditioning or they can order from one of the two outside windows. Inside, there is seating for at least 20 people.

Hours for the Sundae Parlor are 5 p.m. to closing Wednesday through Friday. On Saturday, they open at 2 p.m. and it is questionable as to when they will close.

Cheryl Williams, who is one of the coordinators of the stand, said she had a vision of this little shop 4 or 5 years ago but it didn't become a reality until they were able to get the building.

The building was the former Hook's Auction building that was on Main Street in St. Francis. It was moved to its new home at the fairgrounds the first weekend in June. Remodeling began immediately and it has taken hours of overtime as volunteers took on the project of finishing off the inside, making the order window, counters and shelves.

She, as well as other church members who will be working the stand, are anxious to get the stand open and start serving.

"I think this is a good addition to the fair," Mrs. Williams said.

The High Plains Food Coop will be holding a tasting of food prepared by area producers.

The lunchtime event, A Taste of the High Plains, will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday at May Farms in Byers, Colo. Local area producers will be on hand to talk about how their products are produced and will demonstrate recipes for their products that will be used for the tasting.

Numerous door prizes will be given away and there will be a large variety of foods to be sampled. After eating, diners may enjoy the charm of May Farms including a fish pond, a barnyard and open fields of corn and sunflowers.

The High Plains Food Coop is a unique way for consumers to have access to the freshest natural and organic products in the area by connecting the food producers to the consumers. Modeled after the Oklahoma Food Coop, the High Plains Food Coop makes it easy for consumers to buy food directly from local producers via online shopping and a centralized delivery system. The producers each set their own prices.

There is a wide variety of natural, sustainably grown and organic products available year-round. Local foods that are most popular with consumers include fresh eggs, meats and in-season fruits and vegetables. Producers also provide jams and jellies, and prepared items such as noodles and pastas, pies and other baked goods. Producers must adhere to strict quality control guidelines that meet or exceed United States Department of Agriculture inspection rules.

Signup locations remain the same: Ralph and Althea Lebow at the Video Connection, 108 West Washington; Empire Motel, US Highway 36, Tim Poling DDS, 200 West Washington.

visory. "The Coop sells 'food with a story' — our story as a coop and the producer's story," said Becky Roberson, who co-chairs the Coop with Jo Hagney. "It creates a way for people not only to enjoy nutritious and fresh food, but to also be connected to the producers of the food they eat."

"We hope the Taste event will facilitate this even further."

I would like to thank everyone who supported my campaign to become the Cheyenne County Sheriff. Whether it was financial support, moral support or someone who encouraged me to run. I would especially like to take this time to thank everyone that voted for me. Although I didn't win the primary election, I learned a lot about the process involved and met many great people along the way. Thank you so much.

This Is It!! Who Will It Be??
The Last Year For The "Bonzei Bob" Crowd Pleaser Award

This has been a real roller coaster ride for the family of Bob Krien, but there couldn't have been a more special tribute in his memory. The derby was such a part of his summers from the time he was old enough to participate, so it has been bittersweet to watch and try to select what we, as his family, thought would have been something like what he would have done — he was so totally unpredictable! Thank you so much to Fromholtz Body Shop for remembering him in such a way that his children will always have a special memoir to hold on to. To all of those that wanted to be on the plaque, but weren't, thank you for doing your best and having the fun that Bob always had — we never tried to overlook anyone or any hit. We sincerely appreciate all of you that have remembered "Bonzei Bob" and hold him in your heart after nearly 10 years.
