Students complete hunter certification

By Betty Jean Winston
betty.w@nwkansas

Seven perspective candidates entered the hunter safety course held through the Kansas Wildlife and Parks on Aug. 12, 14, 15 and 16 at the Cheyenne County Wildlife club house. Following the four days of instruction all of the candidates passed the test and received their certification card.

Attending the class this year were Jerry White, Matthew White, Payton Beims, Trisha Zwegyardt, Kyler Zwegyardt, Echo Jones and Gustava Jardine.

"This was a small class," Chet Gardner, instructor said. "But they were of high quality."

Hunter safety instructors besides Mr. Gardner include Tim

Stimbert, Dick Rohweder and Francis O'Leary.

The size of the class also allowed time for individual instruction.

According to the Kansas law, people who are 27-years old or younger and want to hunt must carry a certification card along with their hunting license. Certification cards can be obtained only after the individual has completed a hunter education course and all hunters who were born on or after July 1, 1957, must complete the course.

Those attending the class must be 11-years old or turn 11 by the last day of class. Others who have previously taken the class are eligible to renew their hunting knowledge and skills.
