Local girl earns prize at Goodland show

Jandy Dunn of St. Francis showed the Grand Champion Market Lamb at the Tri-State Royal of Champions Livestock Show in Goodland on Aug. 9. This year was the largest sheep show since 1962 with 21 counties represented. Jandy won the championship with her ewe lamb. Prizes are given to champions. Animals shown in this show must be Grand Champion winners in their county 4-H/FFA livestock show/fair. The only exception is if the county's grand champion chooses not to attend, then the reserve champion will qualify. Entries in conformation show must show their own livestock. The Tri-State Royal has been held annually since 1962. The champion livestock are the vehicle for getting together, but the real benefits are the people-to-people aspects of the program.
