

THERE WERE 46 TEAMS and at least 92 people at the fishing contest held Sunday at Keller Pond. The weather was beautiful and check out the reflection in the water. Early in the day, there was no wind and the pond looked like a sheet of glass.

Fishermen pull in the trout

The trout fishing contest, sponsored by the Cheyenne County Wildlife organization, was held on Sunday at Keller Pond, northwest of St. Francis. Top right, Tye Gilliland was proud of some of the fish he caught; clockwise, Mark Brown has just landed a fish, looking is Martin Hilt while Alex Draper continues to fish; Lance Long, left, talks to contest coordinators, Hal Sager and Tim Stimbert; Cody Baxter is just waiting for a fish to bite. Cody was one of the winners of the contest.

Herald staff photos by Casey McCormick