Haigler News

By Floy Ruggles

Haigler residents thought summer had finally arrived until Friday night when a wet, cold front moved in. The inch of good soaking rain over the weekend was appreciated. Late Sunday afternoon the sun made its cheering appearance. Monday morning the cold wind and clouds had returned but it was clearing by noon. I wonder how many had just put away their winter wardrobe and replaced it with summer clothing. Oops!

Many residents of the Haigler Community attended the Customer Appreciation Barbecue in Laird on Saturday evening for Tri-Corner Trailer Sales and Valley Automotive.

The Collicott sisters, LaNeta Carlock, Myrna Mulligan, and Galena Webster drove to Greeley, Colo., on Wednesday for medical appointments. They overnighted in Estes Park.

Quentin, Tonya and Taya Simmons brought pizza to Laura Pearl Wall's home on Friday and they enjoyed the evening.

On Sunday the Simmons' dinner guests were Laura Pearl Wall and Sophia Zuege.

Yvonne Clemans of Burlington spent Friday with her parents, Dale and Dode Faylor. Dwight Faylor ate dinner with them and Ed Robinson stopped in for a visit in the afternoon.

Albert Zuege, Jr. spent Thursday night and Friday with his mother, Sophia. Viola Wall of Wray, Colo., was a visitor on Friday.

Gary and Sharon Fisher brought delicious chili for lunch and shared it with Floy Fisher in her home on Sunday. Strawberry rhubarb pie was enjoyed for dessert. After lunch Gary did some work around the place and Sharon gave Floy a perm.

Please note: Floy will not be home Monday morning, the 21st, to take calls for news items, but should be there by one o'clock or soon after.

Extension Notes

Time to get storage facilities ready for harvest

Now that Kansas wheat has headed, it is a good time for producers to get their bins ready for harvest, said Kansas State University entomologist Jeff Whitworth.

Whether storing seed wheat or the entire wheat crop, storage areas should be cleaned thoroughly and sprayed with an insecticide prior to filling with this year's harvest, said Mr. Whitworth, who is a specialist with K-State Research and Extension.

"This needs to be done several days prior to harvest so that the insecticide has time to work before new grain is put into the bin."

Growers should also make sure that any other grain stored on the farm is free from infestation prior to harvest to reduce the chance of insects from moving from one bin to another, he said. Any infested grain should be sold, disposed of or fumigated. Even small quantities of old grain can serve as the source of insects to infest this year's grain.

If the grain will be stored on the farm for more than a few weeks, producers will probably want to consider using a grain protectant to treat the grain as the bins are being filled, he said.
