Oberlin business buys out three branches of bank

The Bank of Oberlin has completed its purchase of three branches of First National Bank, including those in Colby, Bird City and Quinter.

"We're just completing the acquisition, from when we started in April," said Gary Walter, president of The Bank. "We were approved by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the Office of the State Banking Commissioner to take over at the close of the business day on Friday, Nov. 16."

Mr. Walter said that customers won't be seeing much of a change, other than the routing number and name on their checks. Internet and business banking won't be affected, he said.

"The people that were customers of First National are customers of ours," he said, "and the same people that were working at those branches are there still. It's the same location, personnel and telephone number."

For existing customers of The Bank in Colby, however, there will be a change.

"In Colby, we moved from our location at 1290 W. Fourth to 1195 S. Range, to what was the First National Bank," he said. "We're operating the original on limited hours of 7:30 to 11:30 a.m., but only at the drive-up, and only until this Friday."

Mr. Walter said The Bank will honor First National checks until they can be replaced. With everything involved in the change-over, he said, they're hoping to honor them for 60 days.

"As soon as we can get new checks in peoples hands," he said, "it will make everything easier. We can go longer than 60 days if we need to, but that's our goal."
