

Kids' Ranch Rodeo planned for Thursday

By Karen Krien

McClain's Mutton Busters and Kids Ranch Rodeo will provide plenty of fun-filled family entertainment starting at 7 p.m. on Thursday night of the Cheyenne County Fair and kids do not have to pay.

Kids weighing under 60 pounds will be able to enter the mutton bustin' contest. There is no weight limit on the other events which include: goat tying, wild cow milking (its a wooden cow that gives real milk), barrel racing (on wooden horses) egg and flag race, dummy roping, wild cow branding, diaper pinning, wild cow vaccinating, pony express race and other activities.

There will be clown acts, jokes and fun. The McClains report that the clowns are there to watch out for the safety of the kids and animals while keeping the crowd entertained.

The Mutton Bustin' contest has a few rules and requires pre-registration. Wade Krien, fair board member in charge, reported that it is necessary for him to know how many kids are planning on riding.

Outside of the Mutton Bustin' contest, all kids can sign up the night of the show.

'Hogs' come to St. Francis

By Karen Krien

Some of the townspeople were a little leery when about 30 bikers, all riding Harley Davidsons, rode into town Saturday afternoon. After all, St. Francis isn't used to that many motorcycles at one time, especially staying in St. Francis, and, after all, there are some pretty vicious stories about bikers, and many of them are true.

However, this group was anything but the wild bikers that make national news. They pulled in to the Empire Motel late in the afternoon after traveling from Chicago, about U.S. 36 in 105 degree temperatures which made the traveling even more unbearable as it hit the blacktop. They were looking for somewhere that was cool, with plenty of cold water and a bath.

The cyclists, some riding double and some alone, some married and others just friends, are members of the Chicago Harley Owners Club a/k/a "Hogs." One was an artist, another in sales, another a business owner, another a counselor who was traveling with his wife, a psychiatrist and another was a retired telephone company employee. They came from all trades but were there for the fun of riding their Harleys.

There are 640,000 members in the national Harley Club and the Chicago club claims 312 of those members. Gregg Mueller and Jay Werner were two of the charter members traveling with the group and said the Chicago Club had started in 1987.

Each year, a group will get together and make a road trip. They had been to Louisiana and traveled Route 66. Some had been to Estes Park before and were anxious to get back. Some of the men's wives had flown into Denver, rented cars and would meet the bikers in Estes Park.

Before taking off to Estes Sunday morning, they had parked their Harleys and had coffee at Main Street Sweets. Anyone wanting to know more about the Chicago Harley Club can go to www.chicagohog.org on the internet.
