

Couple exchanged wedding vows in June

Tenley Marie Hankins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hankins, McDonald and Justin Paul Haack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Haack, Lawrence exchanged marriage vows at 2:00 p.m. Saturday, June 8, in the Redeemer Evangelical Lutheran Church in Atwood.

Grandparents of the couple are Mrs. and Mrs. Frank Dill, Sterling, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Haack, all of Bird City. Reverend Don White read the vows. Kayla Tiemeyer, organist, Lea Holste, soloist, and Andrea Holste, cellist provided music.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore an ivory satin empire gown with beads and pearls adorning the cafe satin trim on the neckline, waist, and the inverted pleat on the back of the dress that flowed into a chapel train. She wore an ivory and cafe satin floral headpiece that had a fingertip veil with two tiers of bridal illusion edged with satin cording. She carried her Great-Great-Grandmother Hankins' handkerchief and a round bouquet with lavender roses, miniature periwinkle hydrangeas, pink pixies, white alstomeria, and million star.

The maid of honor was Tessa Wells, Greeley, Colo. Lindsey Mullen of Overland Park, cousin of the groom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Emily Jones, cousin of the bride, Wichita and Nicole Kiernan, Dallas, Texas. The attendants wore two piece dresses of lavender and ivory and carried round bouquets complementing the wedding colors of lavender and ivory with pastel accents.

Bryan Haack, Chicago, and Aaron Haack, Lawrence, brothers of the groom served as best men. Grooms-men included Roger Haack, father of the groom, and Robbie Hankins, brother of the bride.

Seating the guests were Brad Dill, Wichita, and Erik Dill, Sterling, cousins of the bride, and Brendon Haack, Ogallala, Neb., cousin of the groom. Taper lighters were Brittini and Ryan Jensen, Blair, Neb., cousins of the groom. In charge of the guest book and programs were Sarah and Courtney Klein, Sterling, cousins of the bride. Host and hostess were cousins of the bride, Ryan and Fing Dill, Mesquite, Texas. Arien Kouns was the bride's personal attendant.

A reception following the ceremony was served by the Lutheran Women's Missionary League in the fellowship hall. The three-tier cake and satellite cakes were embellished with fresh flowers. The bride and groom cut the cake with the cake knife used at the groom's parents' wedding. The couple toasted each other with a wedding cup used at the bride's great-great-great-grandmother Susan Elizabeth Ashton's wedding. The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was held at City Limits in Colby. The highlight of the evening was a slide show of Tenley and Justin as they each grew up, with the presentation including rehearsal pictures and pictures taken during the dinner.

Hankins- Haack

The bride received a bachelor of science degree in nutritional sciences from Kansas State University in May 2002. She is currently attending Iowa State University as a nutritional sciences graduate student.

The groom is a May 2002 graduate of The University of Kansas with a degree in business administration.

Following a wedding trip to Montego Bay, Jamaica, the newlyweds are at home in Ames, Iowa.

Genealogy weekend trip taken August 1

On August 1, Kent and Carol Amsberry, along with their sons, Will and Grant, departed Olathe, bound for Nebraska on a genealogy weekend trip. Their first stop was the home of Paula and Gary Groff in Bellevue, Neb. The group enjoyed a delicious barbecue dinner on one of the few cool evenings in this hot summer.

The next morning, the group toured around south Omaha to see some of the places where their grandmother, Susie Amsberry, lived and worked in the early 1900's. The tour ended at the Laurel Hill Cemetery, one of the oldest in the Omaha area. In this cemetery, Paula and Kent were able to view the grave site of their great-great-grandparents, Louis and Marie Jourdan, as well as seeing many other interesting old tombstones.

After a light lunch, the group took off for the three hour drive to Kearney, Neb., where they met Lee and Doris Amsberry in a local motel. That evening everyone celebrated Will's fifth birthday with a pool party, cake, presents and dinner at a local Chinese restaurant.

The morning, the group drove approximately 40 miles to the Mason City and Ansley, Neb. area. Their objective was to find the tiny Enon Cemetery, reported to contain the graves of several Amsberry ancestors. After failing to find the cemetery using information from the Custer County Historical Society, they returned to town to ask the locals for directions. Two very generous local men spent approximately two hours helping the group find the Enon Cemetery, located on private land west of Mason City. What they found there made the trip well worth the wait.

The Enon Cemetery was a small fenced area of native grassland with a number of large old cedar trees in one corner. The small cemetery contained less than 20 grave sites and perhaps a few more unmarked graves, all located within the small thicket of trees. The group was thrilled to find the graves of Lee's grandfather, Floyd Murton Amsberry (1854-1914) and great-grandparents, Lucy Caroline and Francis Everett Amsberry (1824-1897). The F. M. Amsberry grave site was particularly interesting as it was a homemade concrete marker with one of the trees grown in close at the headstone. The group took many photos and shot some camcorder film footage to document the area. The location of the cemetery was carefully noted in case anyone from the family would like to visit in the future.

In the afternoon, the group visited cemeteries in Broken Bow, Ansley and Mason City to see the graves of more distant relatives. The most noteworthy ancestor was Darius M. Amsberry, buried in Broken Bow, who was a nephew of Lee's great-great-grandfather. He was locally prominent in Broken Bow and later was appointed as Receiver of the U.S. Land Office by Presidents T. Roosevelt and Taft. The group broke up later in the day to return home and heartily recommend that everyone take the time to find records of their ancestors who may be located in some of the pioneer cemeteries in the Midwest. On their return to Bird City, Lee and Doris stopped in Wilsonville, Neb. to see the grave of Doris's grandfather, Ralph S. Wolbach, so it wasn't just Amsberry family history that was documented that weekend.
