Student on starting squad

Dustin Dunn, former St. Francis Indian football player, was featured in the Friday, Oct. 24, issue of The Salina Journal in an article by Christian D Orr, a member of the Journal staff.

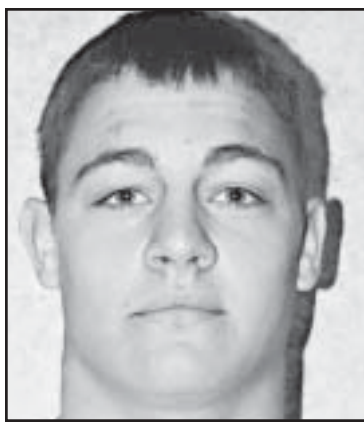

Dunn, a redshirt freshman linebacker, has moved into the starting lineup of the Fort Hays State University Tigers and Mr. Orr was drawing a parallel between the recent winning of the Tigers and the increased amount of playing time for Dunn.

Being a northwest Kansas player, Dunn has a following in the Journal circulation area, and many sports fans remember him from his days as an Indian. Mr. Orr refreshes their memory by mentioning that while Dunn played for St. Francis the team went 34-8 and advanced to post-season play. Dunn was a Salina Journal All-Area Top 11 selection his senior year at St. Francis.

The article states that Dunn is currently sixth on the Tigers in total tackles with 27 and that it was during the third game this season against Chadron State that he shared the team lead in tackles with nine and also forced a fumble. Since this time Dunn has been a started for the Tigers.

"For me the key is focus," Dunn

told Mr. Orr. "I just need to be disciplined."

Player named to college 100th anniversary team

In conjunction with Pittsburg State University's centennial celebration, Gorilla football letterwinners have voted and selected a 100th Anniversary football team.

One of the team members chosen was Andy Poling of St. Francis, who played for the Gorillas from 1996 to 1999.

The 33-man team (35 individuals due to ties in balloting) is composed of former Pitt State greats, ranging as far back as Joe Murphy (1932-33) to as recent as Matt Howard (1998-2001).

A total of 129 former Pittsburg State greats were eligible for consideration on the ballot. Any one of three criteria had to be made to be eligible for the ballot: (1) earn National Association Intercollegiate Athletics or National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division II All-America honors; (2) earn induction into the Pittsburg State University Athletics Hall of Fame (as an individual player), (3) be a member of the 50th Anniversary football team which was selected in 1953.

No current members of the Gorilla football team were eligible for consideration.

The Pittsburg State University Athletic Department mailed approximately 750 ballots in September to all living football letterwinners that the University had a current mailing address on file. Voting took place through early October.

"We're very excited to recognize this tremendous group of athletes," said associate athletic director Tommy Riggs, who helped coordinate the balloting process. "Each of these former players left an indelible mark on Pitt State football and helped shape the Gorillas' tradition of excellence. Most importantly, this group was selected from among their peers, and the group represents the cream of the crop from more than 1,000 former Pitt State football quad members.

The 100th Anniversary football team includes 32 former All-Americans, 23 members of the University's Athletics Hall of Fame and two members of the 50th Anniversary football team.

The 100th Anniversary football team members will be honored at halftime of Pitt's home football game against Missouri Western

Poling

State College on Nov. 1.

Additionally, the 11 members of the 50th Anniversary football team, selected in 1953, will be recognized that day as well.

Among the honors that Poling received while playing for the Gorillas were:

1998: Football Gazette, honorable mention All-American

1999: Associated Press, first team All-American; AFCA, first team All-American; Daktronics, first team All-American; Football Digest, first team All-American.
