Correction
 • The video cabinet at the St. Francis Public Library, built by the students in Rob Schiltz's Industrial Arts class, was made possible by memorial gifts funds used for the materials. The cabinet was pictured in the March 4 issue of The St. Francis Herald.

• The names of Tyler Howard, Kelby Sanchez and Jason Ryan were inadvertently omitted from the list of names subpoenaed for the theft/robbery case listed in the March 4 Herald and Times article titled "Audience visits commissioners...". Remember, people who are subpoenaed are being called to testify in a certain court case; they have not been charged with a crime.

Colby Community College art gallery

The featured artist at the Colby Community College Art Gallery is textile artist Mary Ewing of Cedar Bluffs.

The show is a display of scrap quilts, quilted clothing, wool blankets with painted leather and baskets.

Her great-grandmother was an avid quilter and she supplied Ewing with fabric scraps and fostered a love of textiles. Ewing also had an ancestor who was a Cherokee woman and her knowledge of pine needle basketry was passed down to her.

The public is invited to view her work which will be on display through April 8. There is no admission charge. The gallery is open Monday through Friday from 1-5 p.m. Groups may make special arrangements for other times by calling art instructor Cathy Gordon at 462-3984, ext. 310.

Dane G. Hansen Memorial Museum

The Dane G. Hansen Memorial Museum is proud to present 75 works of Mary Lane McMillan, ranging from childhood sketches, to works created during her years as a professional illustrator, to paintings and drawing of the pristine landscapes of Florida made late in her life.

The exhibition opens April 2 and will run through May 16 in conjunction with "Nostalgic Tins."

Nostalgic Tins is an exhibition of tin containers dating back to the late

Bird City man found dead in his home

Sheriff Eddie Dankenbring reported that Darrel E. Nelsen, 57, was pronounced dead at his home in Bird City on March 11.

Cheyenne County deputies responded to a 911 call and Mr. Nelsen was pronounced dead on the scene from possible self-inflicted wound.

The coroner ruled the death was around 10 p.m. on March 10.

Mr. Nelsen graduated from Bird City High School. His family said he enjoyed hunting, fishing, working in his shop and coming up with brilliant little inventions. He also enjoyed being a part of the Antique 1800s. The show is the result of 50 years of collecting by Liz Knitter, Downs.

The museum is open Monday through Friday from 9 to noon, and 1 to 4; on Saturdays from 9 to noon and 1 to 5 and on Sundays and holidays from 1 to 5.

There is no admission fee and you are encouraged to view their web site at www.hansenmuseum.org

Casey's Comments

The birds of Bird City

By Casey McCormick

As a kid I would travel from the foothills of the Colorado Rockies to Ohio to visit my maternal grandparents.

Mom's family loved bird watching. As a youth I would wander the forests around my grandparent's farm house to see and hear winged creatures foreign to my experience.

We would look at books which described each species and the areas they inhabited. I remember my aunt and grand-dad McIntyre whistling the many different songs of the local birds.

Years later I "landed" in Bird City. I'll never forget the pleasure many family members had when they heard the name of my new home.

Many of the birds here are familiar to me from Colorado. But many I've had the joy to get to know. The Killdeer shares a couple of unique songs, the Western King Bird took me awhile to identify and the multitude of Hawks amaze me as they hover over the fields looking for a scurrying meal.

I've missed the many types of birds here during the Winter season and their songs are a welcome reminder to the coming Spring.
