Three selected as Student of the Year

Three St. Francis students, Lorielle Gohl, Crystal Murray and Ben Lacy, have received the prestigious honor of being selected by their peers as departmental Students of the Year at Northwest Kansas Technical College.

Gohl, daughter of Debra Gohl of St. Francis and DeLynn Gohl of Wallace, Neb., was selected by her peers in the business technology department. Lorielle is a 2002 graduate of St. Francis Community High School. As a student at the technical college, Gohl has participated in several campus activities, including being a member of the Ambassador Club, being selected as an Ambassador Leader, and serving as the secretary/treasurer for the Business Technology Club. She was recently selected for membership in the National Technical Honor Society and is a volunteer for the American Cancer Society, Red Cross and Helping Hands. After graduation, she plans to seek employment in the accounting field.

Murray, daughter of Rex and Sandi Murray, is the 2004 Cosmetology Student of the Year. Crystal is also a 2002 graduate of St. Francis Community High School. She is president of the Cosmetology Club, a member of the all-school student senate, and a volunteer for Red Cross and the Genesis food bank. She plans to relocate to Scott City to work as a cosmetologist.

Lacy is the 2004 engineering technology Student of the Year. He is the son of Les and Jane Lacy. He is an ambassador in the engineering department and was recently selected for the National Technical Honor Society. He has also volunteered for several community activities in St. Francis and for the Genesis food drive. After graduation he plans to remain in the tri-state area and seek employment as a welding foreman.

Each of the Goodland Technical College's 14 departments selects a Student of the Year and those students, in turn, become candidates for the honor of being named the all-college Student of the Year which will be announced during commencement exercises on May 21.

Tuesday Club

Tuesday Club met on March 9 at the home of Fleda Raile. Delicious refreshments were served to the 10 members present.

The meeting was called to order by president Carol Rogers. Roll call was answered by the "law of the home."

—Presidential Fact—

• James Buchanan was the only president never to marry. Five presidents remarried after the death of their first wives—two of whom, Tyler and Wilson, remarried while in the White House. Reagan was the only divorced president. Six presidents had no children. Tyler—father of fifteen—had the most.

After a short business meeting the lesson was given by Virginia Cooper on "The Law of the Home."

The April meeting will be Tuesday, April 13 at the home of Carol Rogers. Laura Pugh will give the lesson on "The Rules of the School."

The meeting was closed by reading the Club Collect.
