— Outdoors With Chuck —

By Chuck Kribs

Catfish! I love catching catfish! I'll fish for anything and do, but I do love fishing cats.

Each year, we go to our place in Baja, Mexico, and spend time on the water for sailfish, marlin, dorado and tuna, and I really do enjoy that. BUT down deep (pun) I am a dedicated cat fisherman.

Some years ago, on my way to Alaska, I heard of a river in Northern Sascatchewan, called the "Bloodvein" which was supposed to be full of BIG channel cats. I took a 600-mile detour to get there and it was worth it. A big channel on almost every cast out of a cold rushing river. It doesn't get much better than that!!

Correction

Barbara Parker asked the following corrections be printed because of a mistake in the April 1 article: The new prevention and education piece: "Kids, Parents, Businesses and Communities Against Abuse and Violence" is cancelled. Ms. Parker's work, including individual appointments, workshops, non-profit papers and grants will concentrate only on her work: Sensorsomatic Consultations and her Center: Awakening Star Learning Prevention and Wellness Center, both names in the 70s. Her unique creative work: Sensorsomatic Consultations combines energy work and relaxation methods to assist the body to reduce stress and 'intergenerations' negative holds and restrictions of the past and present, often the underlying causes of physical pain and disease manifestations. It doesn't show on this week's weather report but late Tuesday, when the paper was being put together, there was a brief rain shower.
