• Also attending the 60th wedding anniversary party for Clarence and Minnie Busse were Kate Cooksey of San Marcos, Texas, and Stephanie, Sidney and Craig Busse of Bird City.

• An item in the McDonald news aid that Tunney and Leila Loker had attended the 50th anniversary party for Clarence and Minnie Busse and it should have read the 60th anniversary.

County Health Talk

Dead Bird Reporting

Cheyenne County Health Department will closely monitor potential cases of West Nile Virus throughout the summer and report confirmed meningitis and encephalitis cases in humans as well as cases in birds and mosquitoes. Horse, birds and mosquitoes/mosquito pools will be tested across Kansas, as required, for confirmation of the virus. If you discover a dead bird that fits the criteria for testing listed below, contact the West Nile Virus information line (1-877-228-2287) to receive important information. You will be asked to leave a name and contact number. You will receive a call back about where to take the bird. If you find a dead bird that does not fit the criteria for testing or you choose not to submit it for testing, simply dispose of it in the garbage. Use gloves when handling the bird.

Criteria for birds accepted for testing is as follows:

- Crow, blue jay, magpie, or bird if prey (hawk, owls, eagles)
- Bird should not have been dead longer than 24 hours
- Bird should be intact and placed in double plastic bag in freezer until submitted.

Callers will be given directions to their local Kansas State University Extension agent for drop-off of the specimen. Kansas State Extension agents will then slip the specimens to a designated testing lab. Individual test results will not be revealed.
