

CHEYENNE COUNTY EXTENSION DIRECTOR Tye Faulkender presented the Membership Pin to first Kyla Bandel and then Brianna Cooks and Shakota Blanka.

Club awards presented

By Casey McCormick

Cheyenne County's 4-H clubs gathered on Sunday for the 2004 4-H Achievement Banquet. A large crowd of young to old filled the Bird City American Legion hall for a potluck dinner and awards cer-

Tye Faulkender, the Cheyenne County Extension Director, welcomed those in attendance and presented many of the certificates, medals and trophies. Other speakers were Heidi Yonkey, Alecia Zimbelman, Amber Havel, Allison Grice, Megan Ford, Emily Walz, Corbin Sherlock, Dallas Reed, Dale Northrup, Kaycee Williams, John Finley and Christy Wurm.

One of the highlights of the afternoon was the presentation of the Extension Appreciation Award. This year's recipient had to make a special trip to be present. Bill Leach, who is recovering from a medical condition that has him in Colorado Springs, was at the banquet.

"They gave me a pass to be here," Mr. Leach said, "I have to go back this evening.'

The award goes to an individual who strengthens the 4-H program. Another special award was for the 4-H Family of the Year. The award went to the Steve and Jan Busse family. Their three children, Sydney, Craig and Stephanie, remain active year round with the Go-Getters Club out of Bird City.

The other clubs that are active in the county are Lawn Ridge 4-H the Plum Creek 4-H Club.

Mock presidential elections held at St. Francis school

Although this year's presidential election was again a close race, the results of a mock election held for the St. Francis Community Junior and Senior High School students were strongly in favor or George W. Bush over John Kerry.

On Nov. 2, students were given ballots and asked to vote for their favorite of the two main candidates.

For several days preceding the mock election, students of Steve Jenkins' Readings in the Social Sciences presented morning summaries of both candidates' key issues to the school. The issues included foreign policy, moral issues, crime, the economy and education.

Of the 174 students that voted, 144 preferred Bush and only 30 voted for Kerry.

Individual class results include:

Seventh grade: 21-0 Eighth grade: 28-7

Ninth grade: 18-3 10th grade: 25-7

11th grade: 28-4 12th grade: 24-8

Rolling Your Own In the days when I was growing ones he had left. After all "want up, smoking was something that not, waste not" was what our parmost men did, and just a few women. It was before we knew the about two or three times of going dangers of smoking. Now with the known health risks, cost of cigarettes and the fact that it is very taboo, it is not a cool thing to do. My father was one who smoked grade school and then one day he quit, leaving not only a carton of cigarettes, but not telling my mother nor us kids that he quit. It was about a week before he finally announced it and we were all would help him out and smoke the twist the end a little so he could get ents used to tell us. It only took "out behind the barn" until our parents let us know they had given away the cigarettes and that we shouldn't have done that. During the time Dad smoked, until my brother and I were in there were times that he would use the old "Prince Albert" tobacco and roll his own with the cigarette papers. I remember watching him do this and how he would so carefully hold the paper and shake the tobacco in it and then roll the edges of the paper and lick the My brother and I thought we sides to seal it. Then he would

Margaret

One day, when I was old enough to know better, I decided I wanted to try to roll my own cigarette. The folks were gone when I had come home from school so I began looking in all the cupboards for the old papers and can of Prince Albert. Naturally there wasn't anything, but I thought I can surely find something to substitute.

I found some coffee grounds and other than the fact they were brown I don't know what else must have crossed the old brain cells because it certainly wasn't texture, but I just knew they would work. While looking for the right kind of paper I chose toilet paper. As to why, who knows?

Carefully I put the coffee grounds on the toilet paper and licked the edges and sure enough it stuck. I twisted the ends and lit the match. Image the surprise when the toilet paper went up in flames, coffee grounds all over the floor and my eyebrows were singed.

It was just another lesson in life • And the winner is.... Typhoone learned the hard way.
