City and Chamber offices join forces and establish website

By Karen Krien

The city of St. Francis and the Chamber of Commerce have joined forces to establish a new website. At the present time, both have websites but each lacks different information. By working together, there will be one complete website which highlights the organizations, businesses and activities in St. Francis. There is also a school calendar but not a community calendar.

The city council hired McKenzie Grace to design a website and then fill in all of the information. The design is there but she is needing additional information.

Organization members have received a form to fill out. If they have not done so, someone in the organization needs to fill it out and get it back to the city office as quickly as possible. If an organization has not received a form, pick one up at the city office.

The form lists the name of the organization, meeting dates, times and places, if it is open to the public, services provided, projects and special events members help with. If the organization has a mission, purpose or vision, members are asked to write it down along with the history and any other pertinent information.

If possible, photos of people belonging to the organization or members working on projects are encouraged to be sent with the information.

McKenzie will use this information for the website.

"We don't want to leave out any organization," said Gloria Bracelin, Chamber secretary.

McKenzie is doing a great job and we are pleased with everything she has done," said Carla Lampe, city council member and also the president of the Chamber.

After the organizations have been entered, businesses will be able to subscribe for a website for a one-time fee. If the business already has a website, it can be transferred to the city/Chamber website.

The website is expected to be finished by the first of the year. When completed, it will have two calendars (school and community), businesses, local weather, movie now showing and those coming up, activities, how to get a dog tag, and figure a utility bill, just to name a few.

"It will be great information for people who have just moved to the community or are wanting to move to St. Francis," Mrs. Lampe said.

"We have made this commitment to the people of the community and we are going to get this website up and keep it current," Mrs. Bracelin said.

"We always need and want input from the people — We want this website to be 'community friendly,'" Mrs. Lampe said.

More about McKenzie

McKenzie, the daughter of Robert and Debbie Grace, is a senior at St. Francis Community High School. She said that she learned a lot of her computer skills in Brenda Day's Desktop and Yearbook classes. Kay Shay, former city council member and also a former yearbook teacher, also helped as did Mary Lampe, city clerk.

However, like so many of the younger generation, working on the computer and creating web pages just came naturally to McKenzie. She figures if she needs help, her dad can help her too.

In the meantime, she said she is enjoying creating the site and getting in all of the information and pictures. She is a busy student and cut the interview short as she had to get to volleyball practice.

Look for more information about the new website around the end of December.

Correction

In Larry Wilson's letter to the editor in the Aug. 11 issue of The Herald, the staff had a sentence wrong. It read, "The equity of the Premium Sale has to stop!" It should have read, "The inequity of the Premium Sale has to stop!"

The headline also led readers to believe that Mr. Wilson was complaining only about goats. He said he thought the big animals were given the time needed but after that, when the goats, crafts, fowl and other such items came into the sale ring, they were not given the time they deserved.
