leadership role on our (Department of Agriculture) team," said Mr. Johanns. "He has a passion for conservation and I look forward to working with Arlen in this new capacity. I'm very confident that our nation's farmers and ranchers will have a strong advocate in him for improving the quality of our natural resources and conserving our land."

Mr. Lancaster succeeds Bruce Knight at Natural Resources Conservation Service, who was recently confirmed by the U.S. Senate as under-secretary of agriculture for marketing and regulatory programs. Mr. Lancaster has served as deputy assistant secretary of Congressional Relations at United States Department of Agriculture since April fly fisherman and outdoor 2005. Prior to his service there, recreationist. He and his wife Mr. Lancaster served in various Staci live in Alexandria, Va.

having worked since 1999 for Senator Mike Crapo, as a senior policy advisor and as the staff director for the Senate Subcommittee on Forestry, Conservation, and Rural Revitalization since 2001, he played a key role in crafting the conservation title of the 2002 Farm Bill. He also worked for Senator Robert Bennett from 1998 to 1999

As Chief of Natural Resources Conservation Service, Mr. Lancaster will lead the primary federal agency that works directly with private landowners to help them conserve, maintain and improve their natural resources. The Natural Resources Conservation Service emphasizes voluntary, science-based conservation; technical assistance; partnerships; incentive-based programs and cooperative problem solving at the community level.

Mr. Lancaster is a graduate of the University of Utah with a bachelor of science and an avid
