DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

John Athey Chapter, NSDAR met at March 14 at the Ramada Inn in Colby. Janet Hinthier, Regent, opened the meeting in ritualistic form. Irene Cressler gave the President General's Message. Leta Miller gave the National Defense. Treasurers report was given by Janet Hinthier.

Roll call was answered with an "Irish fact." Leta Miller presented the report of the nominating committee, for installation in April. After lunch the ladies assembled at the Cultural Arts Center to listen to the program given by Susan McDougal.

The next meeting will be at 10 a.m. April 21, at the Colonial Steakhouse in Oakley. The program will be given by Debbie Dunlap.

BREWSTER LIONS

There were 16 members and one guest attending the March 14 meeting. The meal was lasagna and huge chocolate deserts served by N. Mills and C. Starns. Aerobics should have followed the meeting.

Larry Washburn gave the program about eye surgery.

The grade basketball games were a great success again this year. Kade Juenemann won the peddle car and Gene Marrs the $200 grocery certificate. After the games, a car theft was thwarted at the school; they said they planned on giving it back the next morning.

Goodland lions and Goodland Topside Lions will celebrate their 45th and 10th anniversaries on April 1 from 1:30-3:30 p.m. Brewster Lions and the Heritage Center will sponsor an April Fools' Day box supper at 5 p.m. April 1 at the Brewster school.

Next meeting's program is by Lions Brian Somers, Keith Hoyt and Bob Lehman.

tions for Rotarian of the Year are due. This Award will be given at the Ann and Andy meeting. The Rotary Club is sponsoring the Tree Care Program luncheon to be held Friday, March 23.

Carolyn Armstrong introduced Mike Albers, technology director for the City of Colby. Mike told how everyone is affected by technology either at home, banking, or at work. People that use computers, cell phones, or even at the store shopping, all use technology.

The City of Colby started years ago with the Main Frame System for utility billing. Then went to P.C. network in the early 90s. We now have five networks; five Novell servers, two M.T., two Webservers; one which is at the library for on-line card catalog, and 70 P.C. running windows 95, 98, several DOS.; which have server base backup systems. All systems have back up power supplies in case of loss of main power supplies.

The power plant got a new system three or four years ago. This system is a System Control Data Acquisition which is done by radio. This turns on and off the wells as needed, and sends an alarm if a malfunction occurs. It also monitors lift stations and monitors waste water plant. This system should be paid out by the end of the year.

Meter reading is another project the city has been working on. They now use a probe that touches the meter which saves time and is safer. They are trying a new program called Radio Read. The radios are connected to an electric or water meter with which the entire town can be read in about 2 1/2 hours. Electronic metering will save time and money. They will not be bothered by weather, errors due to mis-entering by hand, or calculations.

Revolutionary new technology for the hearing impaired.

Performance in Quiet

Because your hearing environments change, so do Audioflex's capabilities. Its two program design provides two completely different listening options. One is for quiet settings at home or in the office. The second program is designed for noisy hearing environments. A remote control allows easy access to both programs.

We invite the public for a free demonstration to see how the system works.

Please join us at the beautiful Fairview Estates, located at 1630 Sewell Ave., Colby, on April 2nd from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
