Celebrating 60 years

Mr. and Mrs. E. Dale Mustoe

E. Dale and Virginia Mustoe of Topeka, formerly of Rexford, are celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary with a reception from 2 to 4 p.m. on Oct. 27, in Wesley Hall at Aldersgate Village, 7220 S.W. Asbury Drive, Topeka. They were married on Oct. 31, 1942.

Mistress' affair has ended after death of man's wife

DEARABBY: I was in a seven-year relationship with a wonderful married man I'll call Hank. We were discreet and respectful with his wife. She died three months ago after a lingering illness. A month after that, Hank suggested we date openly and talked as though we were a couple.

Two weeks ago, he canceled our plans at the last minute, saying he had had a "surreal experience" and "what was OK then is not OK now." He would not be more specific. I begged for an explanation and closure. He refused to be more specific and became defensive. We have not spoken since.

Abby, I am still reeling from this because I thought we had a strong friendship and a foundation for something in the future.

Friends have told me that rejection of the mistress after the death of a wife is very common. Can you give me some insight into the emotional dynamics of this situation?

— FORMER MISTRESS IN MOURNING

DEAR FORMER MISTRESS: Yes, it could be delayed guilt—or his "surreal experience" was with someone else.

DEARABBY: I am 52 years old and have been married for 22 years to my second husband. We have four teenage sons. I was widowed at 22 when my first husband was killed in Vietnam. I was pregnant and lost our child when I was told of my husband's death.

I was 30 when I married my second husband. He knows, of course, that I was married before, but for some reason I never felt comfortable telling his parents. (My children know.) I think his parents always suspected something, but they've never asked me directly.

My problem is, I am afraid this information will slip someday, and my in-laws will be hurt and angry at me. What do you think I should do?

— WANT TO DO THE RIGHT THING

DEAR WANT: This has stayed in the closet for too long. You are acting as though you have a shameful secret. Being the widow of a man who gave his life for his country is nothing to be ashamed of. It should

Dillon and Dillinger unite in double-ring ceremony

Elizabeth Dillon and Mike Dillinger were united in marriage on Aug. 3, 2002, at the First United Methodist Church in Atlanta, Texas.

Prenuptial praise music was provided by Jan Carney, aunt of the bride.

The church was decorated with beautiful floral arrangements highlighted with Gerber and Shasta daisies.

The bride was given away by her father, Bob Dillon. She wore a satin A-line ivory gown with matching two-toned beaded Schiffla lace. The veil was attached to a halo style headpiece of embroidered flowers and lace.

The Rev. Gene Parker officiated the double-ring ceremony. Amy Dillon and Michelle Dillon, sisters of the bride, served as maids of honor. Bridesmaids were Kristina Duke and Emily Nasits, sisters of the bride.

Marriage celebration programs were handed out by Sara Miller and Mary Beth Miller, cousins of the groom. The women in the wedding party wore formal dresses.

Junior bridesmaids, Molly Kate

Echols, cousin of the groom, and Colleen Rhoads, cousin of the bride, sang Jesus Loves Me while the alter candles were lit.

Ushers and candle lighters were Parker Echols, cousin of the groom, and Kyle Smith, cousin of the bride. The men in the wedding party wore black tuxedos with black vests.

The groom wore a black tuxedo with a white vest.

Serving as best man was Rick Dillinger, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Brian Kaniz, John Sorbel, and Brandon Mobley, friends of the groom. Bryce Sorbel served as ring bearer.

A wedding reception was given by the bride's family at the church. After the cakes were cut, and the bouquet and garter were tossed, the newlyweds, still in full wedding attire, departed in a convertible as helium balloons were released in celebration.

After a honeymoon trip on a cruise to the Caribbean Basin, the couple now resides in Fort Worth.

AS IT IS, AND THEY DIM

THE LIGHTS.

Wise guys.

Is it a conspiracy? It's like you hit your forties, and the world suddenly turns into a giant eye exam. And if it were, fuzzy restaurant menus would surely be at the heart of it all. Well, perk up, dear boomers; the revolutionary eye-glass lenses from Varilux® let you see near, far and everything in between - even by candlelight. That means no more embarrassing glasses on the tip of your nose, or snickering waiters. If you want to fight for your right to see like Mark Laske, come in and get yours; someday, they'll get theirs.
