Crumbakers celebrate 62 years of marriage

By LULA THIELER

Fairview Estates Reporter

Don and Dorothy Crumbaker, Colby, celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary on May 22. Don's brother and sisters, along with two of their children and many residents at Fairview Estates joined them there for cake and ice cream and a sing-a-long. Don's son, Ray, brought his keyboard and led the group in singing many songs. He also sang two solos, "Old Man River" and "Bless this House," which was great.

After the group singing, all the family members joined in singing "Whispering Hope," which has been a family favorite for many years. The family all went to the Comfort Inn for a family dinner that evening.

During the latter part of May, JoAnne Sunderman reviewed the book, "A Long Way From Home," by Tom Brokaw for the residents. Probably most of us listen to him on television and this book tells some interesting stories about his private life. He was born in South Dakota in 1940 and had many experiences growing up. It was a great report and we thank JoAnne for sharing it with us.

Many residents had guests over the Memorial weekend or went out of town. Gary, Darla and Royce Lahman from Ft. Collins, Colo., visited Mary and Emerson Lahman Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

Nelson and Helen Toburen of Pittsburg were guests of his mother, Vida Toburen. Judy Calliham of Kansas City visited her mother, Bessie Calliham. Kennedy and Sandra Sloan from Ridgeway, Colo., were guests of Edna Sloan. Over 50 of my family were here for a family reunion on the weekend, but my daughter, Majorie Paddock of Rose Hill stayed until Friday before returning home.

Don and Judy Morrison from Chicago were guests of Pete Morrison and Eileen Dible went to Rexford on Memorial Day for a family reunion at the Red Barn.

Tillie Depperschmidt spent a few days in the Hays hospital also during the latter part of May.
